NASSER WARNS NEUTRALS
RUSSIA IMPERILS WORLD

'Friendly Drink' Leads to Freedom

BAD HARZBURG, Germany (AP)—A bottle of schnapps helped two East Germans escape to freedom yesterday.

Top Talks Urged In Bitter Speech

BELGRADE (UPI) — In his first open criticism of Russia President Nasser of the United Arab Republic told 24 uncommitted nations at a "save-the-peace" conference here yesterday that the Soviet action in deciding to resume nuclear tests was "shocking" and had heightened the danger of war.

He called for an East-West summit conference before the Berlin crisis can set the fires of a Third World War.

"The cold war steadily increases in intensity day by day," he said. "This intensity may produce an atmosphere in which armed conflict between the two blocs becomes inevitable.

"It appears to us essential that there should be a meeting of leaders at the earliest possible time."

Nasser began his speech with a bitter condemnation of the Russian nuclear announcement which he said "shocked me just as it shocked world public opinion."

He was supported by President Tito of Yugoslavia who said Berlin had brought the world to the brink of war and called for urgent action, primarily through the United Nations.

'CLIMAX REACHED'

In an oblique reference to Russia Tito said the "fear that the dangerous international situation . . . has reached its climax is clearly shown by all the preparations which are now being undertaken."

"Overt preparations for war are being made," he said. "Mobilization is taking place, the manufacture of the most up-to-date weapons is being intensified, hydrogen and atomic weapons tests are again being contemplated . . ."

'CORRECT FORUM'

Again and again he pointed to the United Nations as the correct forum to work out a solution.

He said the neutral nations and those not aligned with either bloc no longer can reconcile themselves with the status of observers at the United Nations or as a kind of reserve and voting machine in international forums.

OTHERS INVOLVED

Tito said the "purpose of this meeting is to make the great powers realize that the fate of the world cannot rest in their hands alone."

President Sukarno of Indonesia in another major speech that could sway some of the neutral nations backed the Soviet position on Berlin. He called for recognition of two Germanys but with full Western access to the "free Berlin" proposed by the Kremlin.

The meeting in the plenum room of the Yugoslav Parliament brought together a colorfully garbed array of kings, emperors and presidents from Africa, Europe and Asia in a meeting the uncommitted nations hope will save the world from war.

Brazilians Hail Goulart As President

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Vice-President Joao Goulart returned to the friendly soil of south Brazil Friday night and was proclaimed president by his followers the moment his plane landed at Porto Alegre.

Opposition to him still seethed among military leaders in the north of Brazil.

But some congressional leaders at Brasilia made plans for an inaugural to install him Monday afternoon—with perhaps less than full powers.

(The Chamber of Deputies early today approved a constitutional amendment severely limiting the powers of the president and putting control of the government into the hands of a prime minister. The vote was 234-59).

THOUSANDS CHEER

Goulart flew from Montevideo, Uruguay, to the capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul after days of hesitation over how and when he should claim the presidency vacated last week by Janio Quadros.

While thousands cheered Goulart at Porto Alegre, congressional leaders in Brasilia announced their plans for the inaugural at 1 p.m. Monday.

There was no immediate indication that Goulart would accept curtailed powers.

MILITARY FIRM

Brazil's military chiefs stuck to their refusal to accept the leftist vice-president under any conditions.

The military chiefs had ordered the armed forces to attack and dominate the pro-Goulart third army in Rio Grande do Sul but no significant military action was reported.

Cunha Mello, first secretary of the senate, said in Brasilia a caucus of congressional and party leaders had approved the decision for Goulart's inaugural.

As Goulart's plane touched down at Porto Alegre, a radio station there declared "from this instant Dr. Goulart is president to the order of the supreme commander of the nation in his fulfillment of the constitution."

Ancient Car Hasn't Gone 1,500 Miles!

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Any day now Alvin Garlick will be bringing his 1929 model car into the city for its first 1,500-mile checkup.

He took the car to a city garage recently for a 1,000-mile check, but decided to postpone the operation for another 500 miles because it was running so well.

To mechanics who looked incredulously at the milometer reading he explained the two-door Chevrolet had been on the blocks in a garage since 1930. His uncle, who owned it until last July, didn't like driving it.

'Callous Russians Ignore Humanity'

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night said Russia's nuclear explosion yesterday demonstrated the "completely callous" Soviet disregard for the safety of humanity.

Diefenbaker said that with the announcement of the Soviet nuclear test "everywhere in the world there is a feeling of fear tonight."

CANADIANS WARNED

In an address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association the prime minister said "the hope for general disarmament in the world has been given a limitless delay."

Diefenbaker's most significant speech in recent months contained the warning to Canadians that "if war comes in West Berlin it involves us."

'COMPLETE DISREGARD'

Earlier, in a statement issued after the news of the Soviet explosion had been released, Diefenbaker said "if reports are accurate this device which exploded in the atmosphere demonstrates beyond a doubt the completely callous Soviet disregard for the safety of humanity."

HAZARD POSED

Such an above ground explosion, he said, "poses the greatest hazard to human health and future generations through radiation."

He reiterated his warning to the Western alliance to avoid "further actions which would exacerbate an already dangerous situation."

Wheat Crop Slashed

OTTAWA (CP) — This summer's scorching Prairie drought has slashed Canada's wheat crop this year to an anticipated 252,495,000 bushels — smallest crop since the so-called "dirty thirties" hit the west.

It is also expected to spell the end of an eight-year period of heavy surplus wheat stockpiles.

The wheat crop forecast Friday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics would be 48 per cent below last year's 489,624,000 bushels and the worst since the 1937 disaster year when only 180,200,000 bushels were harvested. The 10-year average for 1951-60 is 487,400,000 bushels.

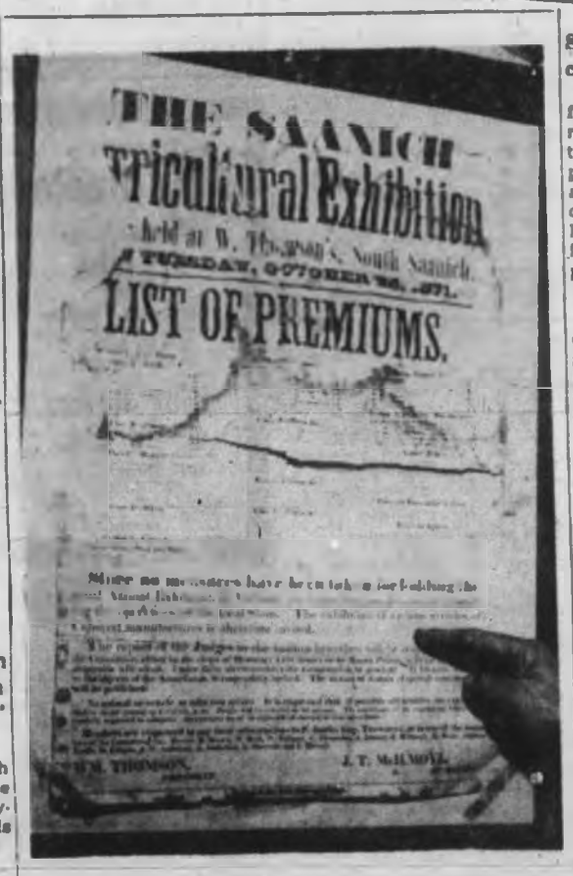

Other Prairie crops are reported to have suffered almost as heavily, with the prospective oats crop down 42 per cent, barley down 45 per cent and flaxseed down 37 per cent.

Reds to Stage Exercises

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet Union announced Friday night it will stage naval and rocket exercises off its northern coast during the two months starting Sept. 15.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the manoeuvres will be held "in accordance with the plan of military preparations."

Red Nuclear Blast Not a Super-Bomb'

Bill-of-Fair for 1871

A cherished relic of the early years of the Saanich Fall Fair is this old fair bill printed in 1871. The 93rd annual fair, which opens at 10 a.m. today, is a lot bigger than it was in those days and officials think entries "will exceed anything we've had in the past."—(Colonist photo.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said the Soviet Union set off a medium-size, above-ground nuclear explosion Friday in Central Asia.

The announcement of the first known atomic test by a major nuclear power in nearly three years came as no surprise. It had been expected at any moment since Moscow's declaration two days ago that Russia would resume testing its nuclear weapons.

IN ATMOSPHERE

The statement said:

"The Soviet Union today has conducted a nuclear test in the general area of Semipalatinsk in Central Asia. The device tested had a substantial yield in the intermediate range. It was detonated in the atmosphere."

In nuclear-weapons terminology, the language "substantial yield in the intermediate range" was described as indicating a blast equivalent to the power of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT, and certainly less than 1,000,000 tons.

NOT SUPER

This is far below the mammoth 100,000,000-ton superbomb Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Russians can and may build.

The two U.S. atomic bombs used against Japan—and the only ones yet burst in war—had a TNT equivalent of 20,000 tons. Present maximum-power U.S. weapons are reported to be in the 20,000,000 to 25,000,000-ton range.

FALLOUT FEARED

Because the new Russian device was exploded in the air, rather than underground or in outer space, it is presumed to have caused radioactive fallout.

The speed of the U.S. announcement indicated monitors picked up the explosion through earth tremors or perhaps electronic spotting devices. The process of air sampling for radioactivity takes longer.

INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

The Russian blast was set off in an area which the Soviets previously used for tests.

Semipalatinsk is an industrial and transportation centre near the Mongolian border and 560 miles northeast of Alma-Alta, where the Soviets are believed to have launched many of their missiles. It is approximately 1,700 miles east of Moscow.

Some hours before the White House announced the atmospheric test, U.S. earthquake experts dismissed the possibility that the Russians had staged an underground test Wednesday night.

Reports from Europe Thursday had said a powerful underground shock originated in central Asia.

SEES KENNEDY

The White House announcement came soon after Arthur Dean, U.S. ambassador to the Geneva test ban talks, conferred with President Kennedy and other high officials. Kennedy had summoned Dean home immediately after Wednesday's Soviet announcement.

Leaving the White House, Dean read a statement in which he said resumption of nuclear testing shows clearly that the Soviet Union intends "to rest its future policy on the terrorization of humanity."

'Skipper' Bennett To Extend Fleet

Premier Bennett has ordered an immediate survey of transportation needs of the Gulf Islands to determine what type of new ship should be built for the ferry service the provincial government took over yesterday.

Announcement that a new ferry would be constructed was made by the premier during a brief ceremony in which he handed over a cheque for the full purchase price of $249,823.75 to Gavin Mouat, principal owner of Gulf Islands Ferry (1951) Co., Ltd. (See picture on Page 5.)

NEW TITLE

More than 100 residents of the Islands and guests of the government were on hand at Swartz Bay to hear Premier Bennett described as "the commodore of the Hawaiian Islands of Canada."

"Before very long we will have to build at least one new ship," said the premier.

SURVEY ORDERED

He later told newsmen that Ronald B. Worley, assistant manager of the B.C. Toll Authority ferry system, had been ordered to make a survey of all the requirements of the Islands in regard to transportation.

"The government expects a recommendation as to what type of new ship is required," he said. "As soon as we have this recommendation we shall proceed with its construction."

Takeover of the ferry system includes all ships—the Motor Princess, George S. Pearson, Cy Peck, and Delta Princess—and assets such as cash and investments made by the company.

Premier Bennett claimed it was the first time in history that the head of a government had made full payment at the actual acceptance ceremony.

Actor Massey Recovering

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said yesterday actor Raymond Massey, 65, was "coming along very nicely" following a hernia operation.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

SUPPOSE that all books, phonograph records and tape recordings in the world were to vanish overnight—burned by atomic fire, or eaten by weevils.

We would then have to depend on men's memories to bring back our arts and sciences, and rebuild the lore of government, religion and commerce.

The craftsmen and story-tellers with accurate, detailed memories would become the holders of their people's heritage.

This is the role that Mungo Martin, 80-year-old craver and story-teller, has played for the Kwakiutl Indian people.

* * *

Since childhood he has been committing to his mind the songs and legends and dances and ceremonies and heraldic symbols of his tribe and of others in the Northwest Indian culture.

During his lifetime, much of that rich and complex old culture has fallen into decay, sneered out of existence by ignorant white men who tried to teach the Indians that all their customs were heathen superstition.

Nowadays, many of the younger Indians are awakening to the fact that arts and legends of their people are worth preserving—that they have just as much reason to gather for traditional dances as the Scots have to sit down and eat haggis on Burns Night, or the Irish to wear the shamrock.

* * *

They can thank Mungo Martin, and a few men like him, along with their white friends, for keeping the flame of the old culture alight.

The B.C. government showed itself to be far-sighted when it put Mungo Martin on the Provincial Museum payroll as a carver. While he has been in Victoria, anthropoligists—led by Wilson Duff—have put down on tape recorders many of the hundreds of songs and stories that Mungo carried in his head.

Mungo has made exact copies of scores of poles and other carvings that would otherwise have falen into decay.

* * *

As a living compendium of the knowledge of his people, an aid to scholarly research, a morale-booster for his own people and a tourist attraction for Victoria and British Columbia as a whole, Mungo has provel himself to be a man of unique value.

Recently he had to undergo a serious eye operation, which took him away from his work for some time, and deprived him of his income.

Having made a slow recovery from the operation, he was having a difficult time to make ends meet—until the government this week decided to pay him for the time that he was away in hospital and convalescing.

The world now looks brighter for Mungo Martin. He can see again, and he has some grocery money.

* * *

He has done such valuable service to this community, and to his own people, that he might well be granted a lifetime pension—not as a charity but as an acknowledgement of usefulness and an aid to carrying on his work.

In the same way, poets and artists and scholars in the non-Indian world have been awarded grants and pensions.

There surely is a place for a guardian of Indian lore to tour the schools of the province, telling the stories of his people, demonstrating the dances and carvings of the old culture.

Mungo is too old a man to carry out such a job—but there are others well fitted for this role. One of them is George Clutesi, who has the knowledge and the gift of words to bring the pre-white world to life for British Columbia's children, both Indian and non-Indian, as they sit side-by-side in our schools.

Anglers Get Double Chance For Hidden-Weight Prizes

By ALEC MERRIMAN

King Fishermen are now fishing for September hidden-weight prizes as well as the contest-long hidden-weight prizes which include an all expenses paid Canadian Pacific Airlines trip for two to Mexico, Vancouver Island helicopter weekend wilderness fishing-camping trip for two, and an aluminum car top boat.

One of the main prizes for September will be a weekend trip for two at beautiful Klitsa Lodge, on Sproat Lake.

Weigh-in stations are urged to get the August entries in immediately so that crest winners and hidden weight winners can be compiled.

Current hot spot for fishing is at Cowichan Bay where there is a heavy run of spring salmon but anglers are advised to get there this weekend because it is likely fisheries officials will put a partial closure on the bay early next week.

Dozen Big Firms Join Offshore Oil Struggle

By PETER BRUTON

Long-simmering dispute over who has jurisdiction over B.C.'s offshore lands was brought to a head yesterday when provincial mines department granted exploration permits to companies to search for oil in areas already granted to another company through a federal permit.

The duplication came about as the B.C. government lifted the reserve on the offshore lands and 12 companies applied for permits covering 1,680,000 acres of land beneath the sea.

THREE REGIONS

Search for new oil fields will be concentrated in Georgia Strait, off the west coast of Vancouver Island and in Hecate Strait, which separates the Queen Charlotte Islands and the B.C. coast.

More than 40 oil executives were on hand at 10 a.m. to apply for acreage.

But ownership of the underwater lands is in dispute.

RECENT SWITCH

B.C. says that under the terms of Confederation it has sole jurisdiction over offshore lands but, in a recent switch, the federal Conservative government claimed jurisdiction.

Shell Oil Co. holds federal permits over 1,000,000 acres of offshore land.

But Shell did not apply for provincial permits yesterday and some of the acreage it had been granted by federal permit was given to other companies.

DON'T HAVE TO

Said Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan: "Whoever applied got whatever they applied for, and as far as we are concerned they don't have to apply to anyone else."

Companies applying yesterday had to pay $250 permit fee and rent of five cents an acre for the year to the provincial government. This totalled $90,000.

Mr. Kiernan gave this rundown of the dispute:

In 1957, during a Senate committee hearing on a bill which gave Ottawa the rights to offshore lands off the Northwest Territories, the then minister of resources Alvin Hamilton said it would not apply to either B.C. or the Atlantic provinces.

Mr. Hamilton, in fact, promised the bill would be carefully worded to exclude the provinces.

PERMIT NEEDED

But last year Ottawa told oil companies interested in searching for oil off the coast a federal permit was necessary.

B.C. asked Ottawa how it justified such instructions. Ottawa did not reply.

In conversations with Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Kiernan stated the province felt Ottawa did not have jurisdiction.

Mr. Hamilton merely said it had.

A total of 27 applications to draw for priority in staking claims was made but only 12 actual applications for permits were received.

Among the companies applying were Richfield, Puroil, Canadian Super, Canadian Husky and Calgary and Edmonton Oil.

FOR ONE WEEK

The reserve has been lifted for one week and other companies interested may make applications during that time.

Quite a number of applications were for acreage in Georgia Strait, both north and south of Vancouver, said Mr. Kiernan.

'Shot' Can Help In Hay Fever

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Just about any day now some thousands of readers will begin having the first touches of hay fever, and will make the quite normal inquiries about whether there is anything new as a remedy.

The answer is both no and yes. There is no wonderful "discovery" to put a sudden and dramatic end to this annual misery.

But there are various measures with which hay fever sufferers, in many instances, are not familiar—and they should be.

BEFOREHAND

One that is gradually becoming more fully understood, is the process of gradual desensitization. This isn't of any use if the hay fever has started. It has to be done beforehand.

There is work going on with emulsion-type desensitizing shots which can be given perhaps six or eight weeks before the hay fever season starts.

This type of protection sounds promising, and it may well be a pattern for the future, but until there has been more experience with it, I lean toward continuing with the older-type series of injections. In other words, I'm being conservative.

AVOID 'HAY'

A second protection against hay fever is to avoid the "hay" or whatever causes the allergy.

Avoid foolhardy activities: A walk through the late-summer fields and woods, for a hay-fever victim, comes under that category.

AT LEAST PART

Finally, since allergic reaction (including hay fever) involves the surge of histamine in the body, antihistamine drugs can counteract at least part of the discomfort.

By and large, I think the best way to get at hay fever is to start now (or rather soon) building defences for next year.

'Canadian Exodus Solves Job Problem'

LONDON (CP) — The Financial Times sees Canadian emigration to the United States as one way out of Canada's unemployment problem.

It says a seasonal upswing in employment next year may be enough to "serve the electoral ambitions" of Prime Minister Diefenbaker, but adds:

"It is far more doubtful whether it can fulfil the optimism of the official economists who continue to deny that any structural changes are necessary to put the Canadian economy on a permanently viable basis."

The one thing that might do it is a "rapid increase" in emigration to the United States, says the article, by the newspaper's Ottawa correspondent.

"Emigration is reaching significant proportions, and for the first time in more than a dozen years more people left the country than arrived here in the first quarter of 1961 ... If this sort of movement develops on a sufficient scale, Canada's unemployment problem will be solved not by providing more jobs but by preventing the natural increase of the labor force."

Whisky Exports Suffer Dock Thirst Quenched

GLASGOW (AP) — A truck approaching a ship made a sudden lurch in the dock area Friday —and 1,800 bottles of export whisky were scattered over the pavement.

Dozens of dock workers flocked to the scene to tidy up the situation. It was cleande up in a jiffy.

The truck driver estimated that "a few dozen bottles" were recovered for export to New York

Divers Recover Capsule

'Life' Brought Back In Radiation Payload

HONOLULU (UPI)—Three parachute skindivers last night recovered from the Pacific a 300-pound capsule that carried human, animal and soil life samples through the deadly radiation of space for two days.

When the three men pulled the Discoverer XXIX payload aboard a 20-man life raft north of here, it signalled the seventh success in the U.S. air force's program to learn how to send things back from orbit.

BEYOND REACH

The air force said the gold-plated packet fell outside the recovery area beyond the reach of waiting snare-trailing airplanes.

But the specially-trained parachuting skindivers—two of whom had performed the same feat before—were dropped to the capsule. Within 40 minutes they had it safely aboard the life raft and were awaiting the arrival of a U.S. navy destroyer to pick them up.

The payload included human joint and bone marrow cells, a three-day-old embryonic chick heart and a type of soil bacteria (clostridium sporogenes) which breaks down decaying matter in the soil.

Also aboard, the air force said, were two types of viruses, one the common flu kind that has lived in a laboratory since being isolated in the 1930s.

Algae, bread mold and radiation-monitoring docimeters made up the rest of the payload.

Stewardettes Sea Reply To Air Girls

LONDON (Reuters) — A British steamship line Friday came up with its own answer to airline stewardesses.

The Union Castle Line advertised for 60 attractive waitresses to act as "stewardettes" on its 33,000-ton luxury ship Transvaal Castle, now being built in Scotland for a run to South Africa.

The break with the all-male tradition for ocean-going liners has come about because of the "tremendous shortage of stewards," a line spokesman said.

He said the girls would be between 21 and 35 and added: "We want them to be attractive and efficient."

"In a way, it is our answer to the airlines' stewardesses."

'Shelters Useless'

No One Will Escape Superbomb—Reds

MOSCOW (AP)—The superbomb the Russians say they want to test would destroy people even in "superdeep" shelters, the military newspaper Red Star declared yesterday.

"In our country," said Red Star, "projects are being worked out for creating a series of high-power nuclear bombs which equal 20, 30, 50 and 100,000,000 tons of TNT.

"Bosses of aggressive NATO policy countries should clearly understand that no superdeep shelter can save them from the all-shattering blow of such a weapon if their insane actions compel its employment."

Red Star said in tests in the Pacific last year Soviet rockets came within two kilometres (just over one mile) of predetermined impact points.

"This means," said Red Star, "that our rocket nuclear blows ensure destruction of any target without need for ranging shots."

Hidden Traps To Stay

VANCOUVER (CP)—RCMP will keep their radar speed traps hidden along the highways in B.C. despite complaints at the Canadian Bar Association convention at Winnipeg.

Assistant Commissioner D. O. Forrest, head of the RCMP in B.C., said in an interview yesterday that hidden speed traps are a fair method of catching speeders. He had no intention of giving them up.

"It's common knowledge that we use radar," he said. "This is warning enough for motorists."

Kidnapping Linked With Double Slaying

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — Federal kidnap warrants, based on identifications and fingerprints, yesterday were filed against a teen-age Chicago girl and a man in connection with a kidnapping believed closely tied to a double slaying.

The warrants are against John Edwin Meyer, 32, and Donna Marie Stone, 13.

They are wanted for the Wednesday night kidnapping of Miss Margaret Wernicker, 39, of Belleville, who was abducted a short distance from where a man and his daughter was slain. No word has been heard from Miss Wernicker since about an hour after the abduction when she called her landlord.

Although the warrants specified the kidnapping charge, the couple was also wanted for questioning in the double slaying Wednesday night of George Ballard, 47, and his daugher, Carol, 10. Their bodies were found near a wooded, secluded lake in the southern part of Belleville, only a short distance from where Miss Wernicker was kidnapped.

Fingerprints found on fruit jars at the lake, where the Ballards were slain, were reported to be those of Meyer.

Miss Wernicker's landlord, H. P. Graham, and his wife, made the positive identification of Meyer and Miss Stone from photographs, authorities said.

Man Who Caught Chiang Freed After 24 Years

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Young Marshal, Chang Hsueh-liang, who kidnapped President Chiang Kai-shek in 1936 and held him prisoner for 12 days, has been freed from 24 years of relentless surveillance.

The Formosa garrison command yesterday confirmed long-standing rumors the Young Marshal, now 62, had been given his freedom.

During his long captivity the former overlord of Manchuria studied the history of the Ming dynasty, 1368-1644 A.D., and became a Christian.

In 1935 he was appointed by Generalissimo Chiang as deputy commander of the bandit suppression anti-Communist forces in northwest China. The Communists won him to their side.

Dec. 12, 1936, Chiang flew to Sian, capital of Shansi, to investigate reports that the Young Marshal and the Chinese Communists were conspiring against him.

The Young Marshal took Chiang prisoner.

Gizenga Hands Out Arms After Tussle with UN

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—United Nations informants said Antoine Gizenga began handing out arms to a Stanleyville mob yesterday after UN troops fired warning shots over the heads of his Congolese soldiers converging on the city airport.

The UN sources said shooting first broke out near UN military headquarters in the Lumumbist stronghold Thursday night. A Congolese soldier later was taken prisoner. Then the Congolese sent a strong detachment to reinforce their airport garrison.

A joint UN-Congolese delegation flew to Stanleyville in a new bid to persuade left-leaning Gizenga to co-operate with the central Congolese government of Premier Cyrille Adoula.

We who make whisky say:

DRINKING AND DRIVING DO NOT MIX

Fine whisky is a luxury and should be treated as such. And, knowing when to say "no" plays a great part in the art of sensible living.

Neither whisky nor any other alcoholic beverage has any place at the wheel of an automobile. Drinking and driving do not mix.

This conviction must be shared by every thinking person who drives a car, particularly this Labour Day week-end when many holidaying families will be travelling on British Columbia highways.

If you expect to be at the wheel of a car this week-end, we say to you: Think before you drink. Don't drink before you drive.

Disappointing Vote

WHETHER or not city council should feel it has sufficient mandate to proceed with its off-street parking plan may be open to question. A margin of one vote over the 60 per cent majority required, out of a total of 133 valid ballots cast, hardly can be said to give council comforting encouragement.

Technically the $1,115,000 loan bylaw for the purchase of sites and construction of two parking garages has been approved by the downtown property-owners who will be called upon to foot the bill if the garages are built and then, in any year, fail to produce parking revenue equal to the capital and operating costs.

And certainly the project is in the nature of a local improvement, and many a local improvement is carried out with no more of an approving majority of the property-owners who must in the main pay for it than in this case. City council therefore can regard itself as being in the clear to proceed, from the point of view of precedent and in a legal sense, unless opponents are able to prove flaws in the bylaw or the voting sufficient to bring about nullification of the bylaw in court.

It is regrettable, nevertheless, that the downtown property-owners were not more enthusiastic about the plan. For this much seems certain: if for any reason the project falls through, it is unlikely that another scheme of equal merit can be devised. The remaining alternative to this plan appears to be the provision of off-street parking facilities by the merchants themselves, singly or in association, which is hardly apt to be so economical nor so equitable.

All Victorians have a stake in maintenance of downtown property values, and therefore many of them will agree with Mr. Ernest Peden, president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association, when he says optimistically, counting on council to go ahead, that "after this project succeeds there will be further parking developments as needed. This is a sign that Victoria businessmen are fighting back against perimeter competition."

A Real Fair

THE FAMOUS Saanichton Fall Fair opens today, the highlight of the agricultural season in these parts. It is the biggest of its kind in the province and the oldest country fair west of the Great Lakes.

These facts alone project its importance, although peninsula residents need no reminder of its distinctive quality.

This fair is a real agricultural fair. Fairs in urban centres tend to become ancillary to large-scale amusement features, but the Saanichton fair is in the tradition of the market days of old. It collects and displays the produce of the district and a wide variety of field and home exhibits are offered in keen competition. It has been the yearly culmination of the farming community of North and South Saanich since its inception 93 years ago.

Entertainment there is also, in attractive programs of diverse nature, but as always the emphasis is on the high quality of the products which have made this fair an example to B.C.

A record crowd is expected to throng the fair grounds over the weekend, the kind of response which the Saanichton Fall Fair thoroughly deserves. As always it will be a credit to its sponsors and to its exhibitors.

It's A Quibble

THE RULES that govern a citizen's activities are almost beyond number. It is safe to say that no one, not even the best-informed lawyer with the most retentive mind, knows them all in detail.

One of the rules, nevertheless, and one of the firmest is that ignorance of the law is no excuse for breaking it. That being the case, a motorist's victory in court in Nanaimo in a parking meter case, while enrapturing to those who regard parking meters as inanimate but spiteful enemies, possibly will prove a flash in the pan.

The victor in Nanaimo, Mr. Clifford Williams, won dismissal of a charge of parking at a meter without paying by pointing out that the notice on the meter-head called for insertion of a penny or a nickel, and that neither penny nor nickel was the proper name of a Canadian coin.

This, of course, is a quibble, for everyone knows what is meant by a penny or a nickel in this country.

But apart from that, there is the overriding fact that the operating instructions on the head of a parking meter can hardly be deemed to be the law. The law, in Nanaimo as elsewhere, is the bylaw governing the use of meters, and in Nanaimo and Victoria, and probably most Canadian cities, it calls for insertion of cents in the meters.

It seems quite possible, therefore, that delightful as it may be this quibble will not get very far.

But it would give Canadians a nice sense of distinctive nationality, perhaps, to change all the meter-head notices to call for the use of cents, five-centses and in Victoria's case, ten-centses.

Double Measure

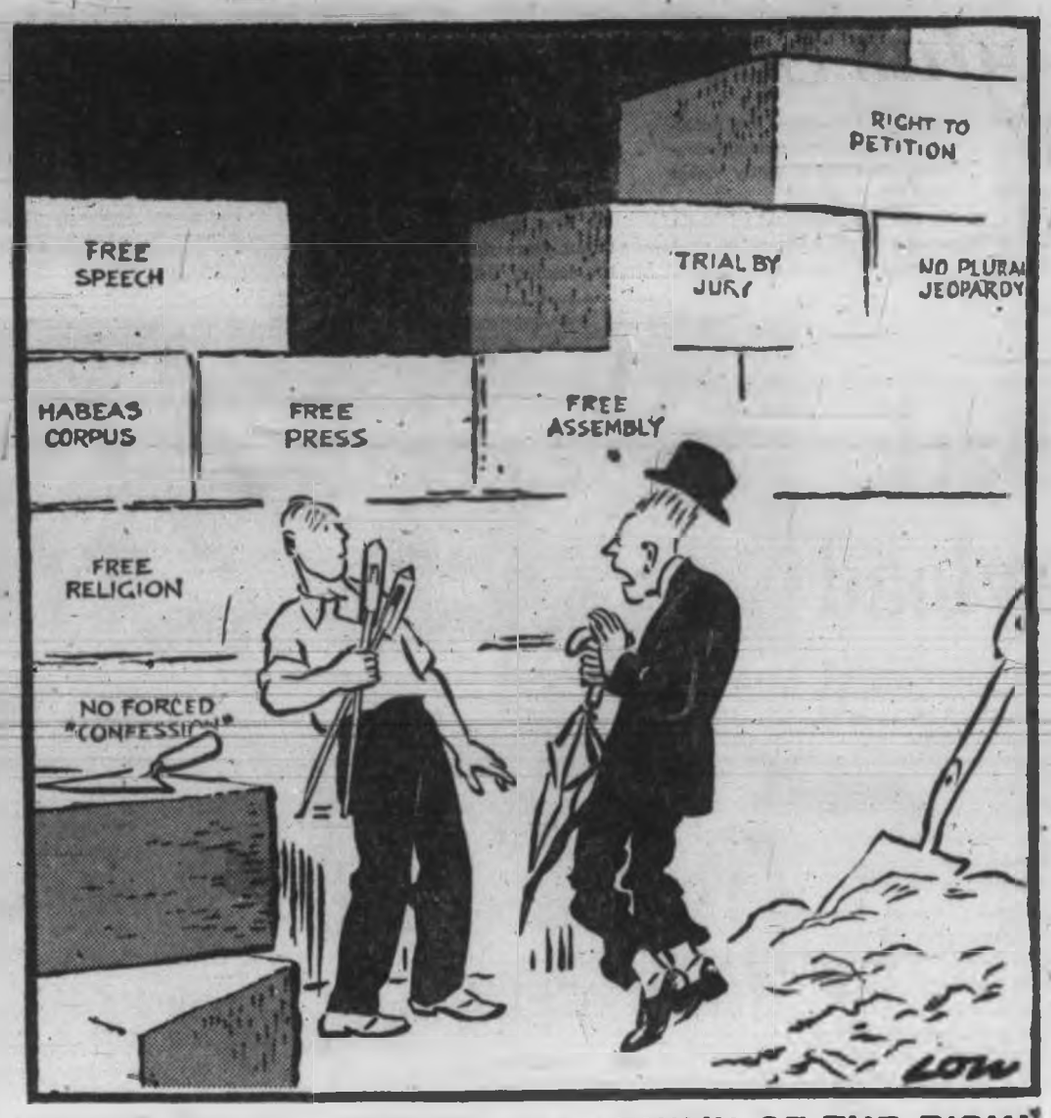

THIS is a weekend of doubled worries for all who care about traffic safety.

It is the weekend when many families, some of them in a fine state of frustration and agitation, will be bringing home the boat and the rest of the camping gear from where it has been during the sunny weeks past. It is the weekend when many will be heading out on the last jaunt of the summer, contending with heavy competition for highway space and meeting aggravating delays.

But besides that, it is the weekend that heralds the reopening of school. On Tuesday children by the thousands will be using crosswalks where they have not been seen in numbers for two months, perhaps dashing into the roadway where they shouldn't, wobbling along on bicycles, and depending on drivers' care and caution in many ways for their safety.

This is a weekend, therefore, that calls for a double measure of courtesy, concentration and alertness on the part of every driver.

Greater Victoria's Labor Day weekend traffic safety record last year was good. It should be a matter of community pride to keep it as good or better this year.

The American Scene

Home of Western Power

By CYRIL DUNN, from Washington

LONG straight avenues lead to the crest of the hill where America's lawmakers, whom the nation's newspapers call "the Solons" have been raising money for the West's armed stand in Europe. There, too, though with much less enthusiasm, they have been weighing out the dollars that will build another dam in the Himalayas or a new road through the Andes or put new thatch on the roofs of African huts near Timbuktu.

Though it may bring little comfort to proud foreigners, it is a fact that with the shifts of power that have transferred Western leadership to the United States, they are being ruled from two of the world's most beautiful buildings: the White House and the Capitol.

The Capitol's immense white majesty always excites the same slight shock of pleasure and surprise, as if one were seeing it for the first time and finding it barely credible. Americans of good taste are not proud of their cities, as a rule. But here in the heart of Washington the Americans have created an incomparable urban landscape.

* * *

The Capitol dominates a park that is eighteenth century and royal French in its grandeur, sloping down towards the city and the White House. (This other seat of power, oddly enough has to make do with a rather scruffy playing-field for its setting, called the Ellipse and worn threadbare by half-a-dozen baseball diamonds!). This is the home of some exotic exiles from the forests of the world. You may seek relief from the argument going on indoors by coming out here to sit in the shade of a cucumber tree or even—if things sound really desperate—the tree of Christ's Thorns brought to this slope from Southern Europe. And, in the French manner again, among the trees stand large, heroic statues, notably one of General-Grant sitting hunched and gloomy in his battle cloak astride a horse in the eternal rain, the brim of his military trilby for ever soaking wet.

The U.S. Congress is, of course, bicameral and though the two parts are supposed to be equal in status, so that it is wrong to call the Senate Upper and the House of Representatives Lower, they are profoundly different in character.

Neither chamber is divided structurally, as in a true parliament, into government and opposition sides prudently separated by the length of two swords. For reasons which belong to the nature of American democracy—the ministers, for example, have no place in the Capitol — the seats are arranged in a half-circle and the members sit, not in groups dictated by party allegiance, but according to seniority in the Senate and pretty well where they please in the House. Each senator has his own desk, antique and elegant in design, as at some incredibly expensive school. Members of the House make do with deep leather armchairs arranged side by side in curved benches and with nowhere to keep papers except in a little metal rack underneath the seat.

Each wing of Congress has its own formalities. For instance, when a senator speaks he will often seem to subordinate his own personality to the office he holds. Thus a senator from Michigan, for example, will not say "I think this or that," but "The Senator from Michigan thinks this or that," almost as if he were reporting with detachment on the views of someone else. With a similar formal courtesy, the representatives of this classless society who sit in the House always call each other gentlemen, referring to "the Gentleman from Montana" even when the object is to abuse and deride him.

* * *

But in other ways these Chambers are more human and casual than is customary in the democratic world. When a senator speaks to a motion he does not necessarily stay in his place, as overcrowding and the sheer bulk of the furnishings commonly require a representative to do. The senator strolls about at will, absently circling the desks of his fellows or, when passion really grips him, pacing implacably to and fro like a defence attorney addressing the jury in an American film.

When what is known here as "a colloquy" develops between two senators, they do not address each other remotely, through the Chair, but walk across and argue face to face, as if they had met on Main Street.

The fringe areas of the Senate are filled with plump leather sofas and to these senators withdraw from participation in current business to chat for a while to their assistants or to visiting friends. In the House the area agreeably set off-limits is more clearly defined—a sunken passageway runnning round the back of all the seats and set apart by a brass railing.

* * *

Of course, most parliaments are traditionally easy-going in some of their aspects, as if to assert their spiritual separation from the rigorous formality of the royal courts with which at the start they were in conflict. But surely there can be no other House anywhere to which members are allowed to bring in their children. Yet sometimes as the eye moves along the benches it comes to a delighted halt at two or three small figures seated there with Dad, their fragile shoulders hunched with embarrassment and joy.

In the public galleries of the Capitol, too, there is far, far less of the formal and rigid order insisted upon in most other lands. Washington is a notable tourist resort. This city in the tourist season is almost tropically hot and for their sightseeing the Americans on vacation dress "sensibly," which in this context means the startling reverse of "correctly." Moreover, they enter the Capitol, not as privileged and disciplined visitors, but as cash customers at 25 cents a head.

So at regulated intervals stout ladies in Bermuda shorts, small boys with war-bonneted Redskins printed on the bosom of their tee-shirts, little girls in sunsuits and fathers in their vests move up and down the gallery staircases like passengers on a steamer trip.

* * *

The House, as might be imagined, is a much livelier place than the Senate and much easier to follow. In the Senate the old-established and world-wide tradition of parliamentary inaudibility is splendidly maintained. But in the House the gentlemen speak into large microphones swinging from mouth to mouth on brass arms, like the table gas lamps of yesterday. Moreover, many of the gentlemen quickly warm up to their own themes, forget where they are and start bellowing as politicians must who compete with roundabout music for public attention at county fairs.

The result is a stunning clarity of diction without, one imagines, a parliamentary parallel. One inevitable result of these deafening overtones is that members fell free to talk among themselves. And though from time to time the Speaker brings his mallet down with an alarming thwack and cries: "Members desiring to converse please retire to the smoke-room," the hum and the rumbling go on as votes are swung, deals made, and the interests of California sensibly compromised with those of North Dakota.

There are many things to be said against American democracy—the complex obscurity of its procedures, the power left with any one member to block legislation, the elaborate arrangements made to impede government rather than to advance its purposes. But nobody could possibly doubt the human quality of these gatherings of Solons on Capitol Hill or easily believe that, when it comes to the point, they will fail the free world on anything that really matters.

The Packsack

Best Yet

By GREGORY CLARK

ANOTHER long sweet summer has ended; and my cottage neighbor, who plans, has had a wonderful season. He has envisioned in his mind plans that excel anything he has planned for years.

He owns a comfortable cottage set in a pleasant grove of pines and oaks, with sundry underbrush of saplings, ferns, wild asters and poison ivy. He has a wharf that has withstood the slings and arrows of the outrageous years, and is only slightly sunken.

Each summer, he spends a most enjoyable time walking about his demesne, standing on the rocky point in front, surveying the cottage, the wharf and the woodlot. On rainy days, he sits on the verandah viewing the never-changing situation and making voluminous notes, with figured calculations and small drawings that embody the plans he has for the next year's. He plans to clean out the woodlot, slash away all the underbrush, cut down the ailing trees and convert it into a matchless little pine grove, singing in the wind.

He has been planning now for twenty years; and he tells me the clarity, beauty and detail of this past summer's planning has given him the most enjoyable summer he can remember.

Arthur Blakely's

Ottawa Report

A FEW seconds after the announcement that Saskatchewan's Premier T. C. Douglas had trounced him in the contest for the leadership of the New Democratic Party, National CCF Leader Hazen Argue is reported to have brought the convention cheering to its feet with the generous assurance: "You have our unanimous support." It is one of those essential gestures which many defeated candidates find it so difficult to make.

Mr. Douglas and Mr. Argue exchanged other polite observations.

"Farmers," said Mr. Douglas resolutely of his defeated rival, "have no finer champion anywhere than Mr. Argue."

And since Mr. Douglas is himself a champion of farmers (and Saskatchewan farmers in particular) it was quite a statement.

Mr. Argue, for his part, declared: "We are old friends. We've been campaigning together for a long time and I'm confident we'll campaign together for a long time in the future."

* * *

Some observers described this post-election encounter between the winner and the loser as a touching spectacle. And it may well have been.

Mr. Douglas' position, of course, is now secure. Or, rather, it is as secure as the position of an out-of-office party leader can be. He will lead the New Democratic Party, presumably, until he leads it to victory or until the New Democratic Party decides that it's time for a change.

But what of Mr. Argue? Most observers who attended the convention seem to agree that while he lost the leadership race to Mr. Douglas, and lost it by a wide margin, Mr. Argue emerged from the whole affair with his national reputation and prestige at an all-time high.

But just how the New Democratic Party is likely to employ Mr. Argue and his substantial talents is far from clear.

* * *

It is known that those MPs who were elected in 1958 as CCF MPs will continue to serve under that banner for the duration of this Parliament.

Mr. Argue, then, will lead the CCF parliamentary group until this Parliament is dissolved. This, incidentally, should give him time to strengthen his position. He will have a forum from which to speak. Mr. Douglas, on the other hand, lacking a seat in the Commons, will be forced to make his speeches and issue his statements and pronouncements from outside Parliament, as best he can. And as party leaders have found out before now, this can be an unrewarding operation.

But just what Mr. Argue's position will be if as and when Mr. Douglas suceeds in finding a place for himself in the House of Commons is another matter.

Initially, there was speculation that he might become Mr. Douglas' deputy. This was shortlived. Mr. Douglas announced at a press conference following his election that he would wait until after the next general election before selecting a deputy leader. At that time, if there were "a preponderance" of New Democratic Party members elected from Quebec, well and good. The new deputy leader would be an MP from that province or, possibly, from Eastern Ontario.

But in any event, Mr. Douglas had a pronounced preference for a bilingual deputy leader, should one be available once the votes were counted.

* * *

But what of Mr. Argue?

At one point, Mr. Douglas appears to have hinted that it was just barely possible that Mr. Argue might become one of his "senior advisers," all things being equal. But senior advisers to a party leader are a dime a dozen, especially while the party remains out of office.

Again, Mr. Douglas seems to have intimated that as soon as he had succeeded in leading the New Democratic Party to power, Mr. Argue might reasonably expect to be designated minister of agriculture in Mr. Douglas' first ministry. This is regarded as a slightly more attractive proposition than the "senior adviser" hint.

In neither instance, however, has Mr. Douglas come close to committing himself.

* * *

Mr. Douglas faces a very real problem in finding a niche for his defeated rival. Mr. Argue and Mr. Douglas come from Saskatchewan. In fact, Mr. Douglas' provincial riding and Mr. Argue's larger federal riding overlap. In the next national election, this inconvenient fact will compel Mr. Douglas to run in a new area. Four federal constituencies are said to have offered him a nomination.

Mr. Argue, like Mr. Douglas, makes his main pitch to the prairie farm voter. To pick a deputy leader who has as much in common with the leader as Mr. Argue has with Mr. Douglas isn't regarded as a useful undertaking.

There was even speculation that Mr. Argue and Mr. Douglas might change places, in effect. Once Mr. Douglas resigns his Saskatchewan premiership to come to Ottawa, the CCF provincial leadership in Saskatchewan might look mighty attractive to Mr. Argue. But other contestants wouldn't look with much enthusiasm on a contender arriving fresh from Ottawa. In any event, Mr. Argue has intimated that he feels that his role is here in Ottawa.

The difficulty is to find it and define it. But that is something that time and Mr. Douglas (with assistance from the industrious Mr. Argue) may work out.

Freud in the Supermarket

Two Purl, One Plain

By CASSANDRA, from London

ALONG with Beachcomber's magnificent Dr. Strabismus of Utrecht, I class the superb Dr. Ernest Dichter of Vienna.

Dr. Dichter is the American high priest of what is called motivational research. To quote one maddened disciple: "Dr. Dichter has taken Freud's gift of psychological healing from the consulting room and put it at the service of the supermarket."

I first became a devotee of Dr. Dichter when I read his magnificent pronouncement on grapefruits and oranges.

"Eighty per cent of all people questioned," observed the doctor, "thought grapefruits more intellectual than oranges."

From that moment on I was a fan.

My admiration grew to reverence when he turned to the subject of soup on which I am recognized to be a considerable authority. The inner meaning of soup, he said, "is a potent magic, a symbol of love."

Investigation

Now I have been privileged to read Dr. Dichter's latest confidential "motivational research investigation" entitled "Why Do Women Knit?"

"This survey," and I quote the doctor's rolling prose, "was designed to discover what attitudes, both conscious and unconscious, women have towards knitting."

I suggest he has made history by being the first man to investigate unconscious women on the subject of knitting.

With characteristic shrewdness he avoided interrogating men, remarking wisely that while it is known that there are also some men who knit, their number is so small as not to influence any buying habits.

He discovered, with one of those blinding glimpses of the obvious that have justifiably put the doctor right at the top of the coconut palm tree, that people knit because they like it.

Some knitted because they wanted to make socks. A married secretary in her thirties when quizzed as to why she did not knit, said succinctly: "I was a lousy knitter."

* * *

In some ways it is a pity that Dr. Dichter was not born in the eighteenth century, although we in the twentieth would have been denied the influence of Freud in the Supermarket.

There was a rich field for him at the time of the French Revolution.

There were, for instance, Les Tricoteuses. They were very chaud on knitting and at times you could hardly hear the slither of the guillotine blade for the twittering of their needles.

Earnest Ernie could have quizzed them as the heads rolled into the basket.

"And why," he might have asked one of these old crones, "do you knit?"

"Because, M. Dichter, there is nothing so cosy as two purl, and one plain when the steel kisses the shapely neck."

Cold Peace

We've heard about the cold war. Now hear about the cold peace.

Where in this trembling world is there solid and enduring peace?

Where do the nations unite in sweet harmony?

In the Antarctic.

By a carefully worked out Treaty drawn up in 1959, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, the United States, France, Japan, Belgium, Australia, South Africa, Norway, Argentina, Chile and New Zealand have all agreed to share the frozen South in friendship and goodwill.

They have not only solemnly resolved not to resort to war in the Antarctic, but they have pledged themselves to persuade all other peoples from warlike acts.

All areas are open to inspection and every signatory of this pact, which is to last for 30 years, may nominate its own team of observers to see that secret military bases are not established for warships, aircraft or missiles. There is complete co-operation on everything from scientific Polar research and weather observation to who owns the whales and the penguins.

In the temperate zones of the globe men are inclined to be belligerent and energetic. In the tropics, in spite of what has happened in the Congo, men are inclined to be squable and lazy.

But take them to the land of freezing blizzards and eternal ice, and they are models of good sense and amity.

Letters to the Editor

Free Pass?

In his column "All Aboard" Mr. Mortimore writes there is no reason why a transit system should be required to make a profit, as we do not require that our roads and bridges do so.

The curent issue of the Henry George News quotes from a speech made by Henry George—who once lived in Victoria—this statement made when he was running for mayor of New York City, "We believe that the railroads of the city ought to be taken properly and legally by the people and run for the benefit of the people of New York. Any individual putting up a large building puts in an elevator, but he does not put in that elevator a man to collect fares. He gains the advantage in the increased value of his building. So we should take the railroads and run them free of charge. Let everyone ride who would and we could pay for it out of the increased value of the people's property in consequence. We should treat our railroads like our highways . . . free to the public."

Now that our transit system is owned by the B.C. government, I would suggest that the home-owners grant of $50 per annum be abolished and a street bus pass be given to all residents of Greater Victoria. When the B.C. Electric Co. was given its franchise one of the conditions was that weekly passes would be sold for one dollar. The least the government can do is to restore this privilege to the people.

Calm Down

In Thursday's Colonist it says nations are shocked and stunned with the announcement that the Soviet Union will resume testing of powerful nuclear weapons. In my opinion we the people are not shocked. Instead we are in a state of apathy, due in most part to the press. Day after day, month after month we have scare headlines in our newspapers. The world right now is in such a dangerous era that it would be well for the press to calm down. I honestly believe, Mr. Editor, that our newspapers could go a long way in relieving world tension.

A newspaper is not a business. It does not belong to the man who bought it. It belongs really to the public. The press is a powerful weapon and can influence millions. A newspaper publisher may seek to influence the public mind on questions of law, debating the rights and wrongs of legal questions arising in a community. His opinion may influence millions. A lawyer must put in years of study and have a licence to sway even a courtroom. A newspaper can influence more persons on health matters than any doctor or group of doctors. His audience is greater, his staff's knowledge of language as an instrument of communication of ideas gives him far greater power and ability to disseminate ideas.

Why not use this mighty instrument, the press, to calm and soothe, instead of stirring a boiling pot? In California the press has done everything except declare war. The news on the radio has sound effects. The result is a people whose nerves must be at the breaking point.

Give us the facts, Mr. Editor, and let us form our own opinions.

MILDRED L. VINING.

Rights Lost

In a recent editorial the Colonist commiserates with the farmers in China, who are suffering under the Communist controls in that country.

It is to me a source of never-ending wonder why the supposedly inquiring minds of B.C. newspaper editors wander so far afield, when the farmers in our own province are so obviously languishing under baneful conditions almost exactly similar to those in China.

We are everlastingly being exhorted to guard jealously our liberties, yet during the recent session of the legislature an amendment to the Milk Act was passed, virtually unnoticed in the uproar of the more spectacular B.C. Electric seizure, which specifically deprives a certain class of people in agriculture the right to engage in private enterprise, and which specifically penalizes—upon a retroactive basis—others so engaged.

An even worse situation exists among the vegetable growers, over one half of whom have been driven out of production during the last few years by the fantastic costs and charges imposed upon them by the . . . board controlling them—amounting to as much as $250 per acre per year.

Recently an attempt was made also to enslave similarly the egg producers on the coast; but they, realizing the creeping paralysis that would overwhelm them under a compulsory marketing board, wisely and resoundingly defeated the attempt to deprive them of every vestige of individual freedom and initiative.

With the shelves of the grocery stores constantly loaded with American produce, and B.C. farmers gradually disappearing from the scene, is it not time for the press to take a look at what goes on at home, before gazing over the vast stretches of the Pacific Ocean for inspiration?

Stocking Thief Fined For Theft of 25 Pairs

John Caird, 1256 Yates, pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to theft of 25 pairs of stockings from a downtown store. He was fined $50.

Det. Ray Maitland told Magistrate William Ostler that Caird went into the S. S. Kresge Co. Ltd. store, 1100 Douglas at about 5.45 p.m. Aug. 25, took the stockings from a counter, put them under his coat and left the store.

He was apprehended just outside. Value of the stockings was placed at $19.75.

In the same court, Larry Warren Skarlrud, HMCS Ottawa, pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor and was fined $20. Police said the 19-year-old youth was checked at about 9.15 p.m. Aug. 30 and had a dozen bottles of beer with him.

Thetis Lake Explanation

Progress 'Killed' Game Area

Strachan Apology Demanded

Premier Bennett yesterday demanded that CCF leader Robert Strachan apologize for his attack on the integrity of members of the B.C. Energy Board.

"He should apologize to Dr. Gordon Shrum, to Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, to Dean H. F. Angus, to James Sinclair and to A. F. Paget," said the premier. "These are five fine men."

Mr. Strachan Thursday said the board's report on the comparative costs of the Columbia and Peace River power schemes was "biased" and the energy board had "lent itself to the machinations of the Social Credit government."

Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood said last night the Thetis Lake game reserve is a victim of progress.

He was queried on a letter sent to Victoria city council by his deputy, D. B. Turner, which stated game reserves fail to preserve game.

ONE OF MANY

Mr. Westwood said cancellation of the Thetis reserve was just one of many such cancellations his department has ordered in recent months.

"This has been going on for some time," said Mr. Westwood. "Our biologist and biologists in the United States have found that setting aside certain areas from hunting fails to preserve game."

CANCEL ALL?

Asked if government policy was eventually to cancel all game reserves, the minister replied:

"Oh, I wouldn't like to say that."

Game reserves on a large scale, such as Tweedsmuir Park, are fine. It's the little game reserves like Thetis that don't work.

MORE STUDY

The entire policy is still subject to study and experimentation, said Mr. Westwood.

He said Victoria should have no problem in keeping Thetis free of hunters.

"Elk Lake was a game preserve when we turned it over to the municipality. There is very little game at Thetis and all that is necessary is to post a few 'No Hunting' signs," he said.

KNOWN FACT

The letter to council from Deputy Minister Turner stated:

"It is a known fact that in the United States, especially in the western portions . . . it has been found after careful and minute investigations that the former large game reserves in these western states were not providing any benefit to wildlife and most if not all have . . . been cancelled.

"Many years ago, before scientified game management came into being, it was theoretically felt that the creation of game reserves would enable game animals to increase in numbers and the increased populations would move to areas outside these reserves.

"I can assure you that this . . . was proven a fallacy and I can cite many instances where the creation of a game reserve has been responsible for the loss of, and not the increase in, wildlife population."

Jobless Figures Drop in Victoria

Only intervention of a holiday weekend kept the number of August job-seekers in Victoria from dropping to the lowest figure since November, 1957.

As of Aug. 31, Unemployment Insurance Commission officials counted 3,157 persons seeking employment in this area—2,122 men and 1,135 women.

The figure compares with 3,296 (2,200 men, 1,096 women) on July 31, and 4,044 (2,906 men, 1,138 women) at the end of August last year.

UIC spokesmen said the latest figures would have been cut still more if reopening of forest jobs had sent men back to work by the month's end. Instead, they return Sept. 5, after the Labor Day weekend.

Last time the number of job-seekers dropped to a comparable figure was on Sept. 10, 1959, when the total was 3,133.

Fire Bill Jumps Million

Firefighting costs rose by almost $1,000,000 this week but happy forest service officials reported a general easing of the situation with only one area in the Cariboo still causing serious concern.

The one serious spot in the province is in the Horsefly district, about 60 miles east of Williams Lake.

During the week 372 new firest were reported, 387 were put out, and 366 are still burning. The estimated cost for the week, $940,724.

See-Sawing Market Ends On Upswing

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market ended the day on the upside after see-sawing through the morning session.

Widespread fractional gains in foods, utilities and banks and financial institutions led the market higher. In foods, Loblaw A and B led the pack with gains of 2¾ and 2⅝ respectively in moderate to heavy volume. Both reached highs of 49½ and 50 at one point in the day.

In utilities, Bell Telephone, B.C. Power, CPR, Gatineau Power, Great Lakes Power, Shawinigan and Quebec Natural Gas were all ahead in the ¼ to ⅝ range in light turnover. Banks and financial institutions gained in the upward swing.

The day's poorest group was papers.

Cut Smoking Pupils Urged

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. division of the Canadian Cancer Society will intensify its anti-smoking drive in high schools across the province this fall. The division said Friday it will sponsor a poster contest with the theme "smoking and lung cancer" with a top prize of $50.

U.S. Air Crash Claims 78

CHICAGO (AP) — All 78 people aboard a TWA Constellation plane were killed when it plunged into a field here and exploded in flames, Friday. The victims included 20 children. No Canadians were listed.

The FBI began checking the possibility that a bomb had been placed aboard.

Wheat Crop Withered By Prairie Drought

Prairie drought has withered Canada's 1961 wheat crop to an anticipated 252,495,000 bushels, down 48 per cent from last year and the smallest crop since the disaster year of 1937 according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The Prairie wheat crop is forecast at 231,000,000 bushels, slashed 51 per cent from last year's 470,000,000 bushels.

HEAVIEST HIT

Saskatchewan's wheat output is expected to be heaviest hit, at 121,000,000 bushels compared with last year's 308,000,000. The Manitoba crop is an indicated 30,000,000 bushels compared with 62,000,000, and Alberta's 80,000,000 compared with 100,000,000.

The national wheat crop figures of 252,495,000 bushels compares with 489,624,000 last year and the 10-year average for 1951-60 of 497,400,000 bushels.

* * *

Smallest Since 1937

It would be the lowest since 1937 when only 180,200,000 bushels were harvested. Since then, the only crop to fall below the 300,000,000-bushel mark was in 1943 when farmers harvested 282,000,000 bushels.

It's expected to be one of the earliest harvests on record.

Average wheat yield for the country was indicated at 10.6 bushels an acre, compared with last year's 21.1 bushels and the 10-year average of 20.9. Only 1937, 1936 and 1919 had lower yields.

10 BUSHELS

On the Prairies, the average yield was forecast at 10 bushels an acre—less than half of last year's 20.8-bushel yield.

This year's estimates for other major crops, with last year's production and the 1951-60 average, respectively, in brackets:

Oats 328,133,000 bushels (456,134,000 and 426,500,000); barley 115,995,000 (207,036,000 and 238,800,000); all rye 6,299,000 (10,125,000 and 14,000,000); flaxseed 14,615,000 (23,020,000 and 17,900,000).

The oats crop would be the lowest since the 1954 crop of 306,000,000 bushels, and the barley crop the smallest since 1941 when 110,000,000 bushels were produced.

Finance Minister Fleming gave advance notice yesterday of $400,000,000 in new short-term bond issues.

Half of the money will be raised from the public to provide new cash for the government and half will be taken by the Bank of Canada in an advance refunding of government bonds in less than two months—will be made public Tuesday.

FOR CASH

He said the shorter-term issue of the two new bond issues will be for $225,000,000, of which $200,000,000 will be offered to investors for cash. The Bank of Canada will acquire $25,000,000 of that issue and the entire amount of a longer-term issue of $175,000,000.

Laurentide Financial Corporation Ltd. had a net profit of $1,751,913 in the year ending June 30, a 32-per-cent increase over last year.

President Peter Paul Saunders said in his annual report at Vancouver that loans, less bad debts, increased 48 per cent to $14,954,371 during the year.

Total assets of the company jumped to $172,432,265 from $119,608,947. Dividend rates on common shares in the company rose 20 per cent to 60 cents.

Short Term Bond Issues Move Well

By The Canadian Press

Canadian bond markets were firm during the week in light trading

Most active trading during the week was in the short term Canada issues following the finance minister's announcement that he will announce details of the new Canada short-term financing Sept. 5. Gains of from 10 to 60 cents were registered in this market.

UNCHANGED

In the mid and long-term Canada market the Canada 3¾-per-cent closed unchanged at $98, while the Canada 4½-per-cent Sept. 1, 1983, gained 50 cents at $93.50-94. The CNR issue closed at $97.50-98, up 25 cents.

The 91-day treasury bills sold at 2.26 per cent compared with 2.52 per cent last week and the 182-day bills at 2.55 per cent compared with 2.77 per cent. Day-to-day money closed at 1¾ per cent.

FIRM MARKET

The provincial market was firm. The Province of Quebec 5¼-per-cent Aug. 1, 1985, closed at $98-98.50, ahead 25 cents and the Province of Ontario 5½-per-cent April 15, 1981, also gained 25 cents at $101-102.

The corporate continued last week's firm tone in extremely light trading. A new issue was announced of $15,000,000 Traders Finance Corporation 5¾-per-cent Sept. 15, 1981, Collateral Trust note series Y at $100 to yield 5.75 per cent.

German Cleric Exiled

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany Friday exiled Rev. Kurt Scharf, head of Germany's biggest Protestant church organization with the charge he headed an "illegal" group unfriendly t peace.

The regime told church authorities the minister also was guilty of keeping West Berlin identity papers.

In addition, he had protested against the Berlin border sealing.

Scharf is chairman of the council of the Evangelical Church, whose followers include most Germans under Communist rule. The council is the only major institution active in both East and West Germany.

LATER IN YEAR

Sharf, 59, is expected to succeed Bishop Otto Dibelius later this year as head of the Lutheran Church in the Berlin-Brandenberg area.

He was allowed out of East Berlin Thursday for the first time since the East sector border was sealed off Aug. 13.

He visited his family in West Berlin but was prohibited from entering East Berlin when he sought to return.

Lutherans Name New Pastor

New pastor of Hope Evangelical Lutheran Church, Chambers and Princess, will be Rev. Lester Carlson of Port Coquitlam.

He will be installed here Sept. 24 by Rev. V. Eichenlaub of Nanaimo, counsellor of the Vancouver Island circuit of the Alberta-B.C. District, The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Mr. Carlson graduated five years ago from Concordia Seminary in Springfield, Ill. Since then, he has been a pastor in Port Coquitlam.

He succeeds Rev. C. C. Janzow, pastor here since 1952, who officially retired last November at the age of 73 years.

Religious Ignorance Appals New Leader

NEW YORK (AP)—One big weakness seen in present-day Christianity is that most people —including many of its own members—don't actually know much about it.

The point, cited by numerous church authorities lately, was stressed sharply by the new leader of world Methodism, Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, 65, of Philadelphia.

"The extent of religious ignorance is appalling," he declared on his installation in Oslo, Norway, as president of the World Methodist Conference.

Bishop Corson said shallow, incomplete notions of the faith and pat, sentimental approaches to it have become a widespread "roadblock to effective Christian action."

"The Christian life cannot be built," he said, "on the foundations of superficial and casual intellectual preparation."

He says religious misconceptions prevail so widely they have "become a popular source of humor." Protestantism has tried to attract people merely by a "studied amiability."

Victoria Poultrymen Finish in Money

Three Victoria exhibitors at the poultry section of the Pacific National Exhibition finished in the money this week.

J. L. Lang, 3976 Braefoot Road, took the following places with his Barred Rock bantams 1. cock, 1. hen, 1. old trio, 1 and 2. cockerel, 1 and 2. pullet, 1. young trio, and special prize for best male and best f. male.

His black Wyandotte bantams won, 1. cock, 1. hen, 1 and 2. pullets, 1. young trio.

Rhode Island Reds of G. S. Eden, Wascana, placed 2 and 3 cocks, 1, 3 and 4 in best female.

John Conconi, Braefoot Road, 1, 2 and 3 and best female with his spangled old English bantam hens.

'World Pecking Away In Petrified Forest'

Peace on earth by God's government during the present generation was predicted during a circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Nanaimo this week.

Donald Mills, district supervisor of the Witnesses, who spends all his time on the road in B.C. and Alberta, told 1,078 attending a public meeting:

"This world is as perplexed as a woodpecker in a petrified forest. Nations try to make a program for peace but can hardly make a dent although they have tried many schemes to achieve goals of security," he said.

"Past fulfillments prove the Bible is the only reliable book of prophecy and therefore a paradise on earth for obedient mankind long ago foretold is a certainty within this generation."

The Witnesses called on people in their homes Saturday and Sunday mornings to discuss various Bible themes. Clifford Roberts, of Victoria, local supervisor of Jehovah's Witnesses, spoke Sunday afternoon on "Being Activated by God's Holy Spirit."

Eleven new ministers were baptized, and a cafeteria run by volunteers served more than 2,000 hot meals to delegates.

For Senior Citizens

Society Plans Centre

A building fund "on paper" has been set up for creation of a recreation centre for Victoria's senior citizens.

Glen Hamilton, secretary for a special committee formed by the board of directors of the Silver Threads Society, said no objective has been set as yet for the fund.

The amount needed will hinge on choice of a building or site for development of the centre, he said.

The building fund was set up as the first step towards realization of the plan that will provide centralized recreational and social facilities for old-age pensioners.

Two committee members, architects Clive Campbell and Dexter Stockdill are currently surveying several buildings suggested as sites for the centre.

"We would appreciate suggestions along this line," said Mr. Hamilton.

Once a site is picked, rough working plans will be drawn up and costs estimated, then the committee will ask the provincial government for a grant.

Donations will then be sought for the building fund, said the secretary. (The society receives its operating funds from the Community Chest.)

Chairman of the special committee is city lawyer Ted Whitley. Further meetings of the committee are expected to be held in mid-September.

Over-60s Club Meets Tuesday

St. Luke's 60 and up club will hold its first fall meeting at St. Luke's Church Hall on Cedar Hill Cross Road on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Colby Travel Director

Appointment of R. L. Colby as director of the B.C. Government Travel Bureau was announced by Recreation Minister Earle C. Westwood yesterday.

Mr. Colby, who will remain as chief of the B.C. government photographic bureau, succeeds the late Ernest Evans, who died after a lengthy illness recently.

The appointment became effective yesterday. Mr. Colby, who has won widespread acclaim for his movie travelogues, is a native son of Victoria, is married and has a grownup son. He is a prominent model railway enthusiast.

"Dick Colby has been directly associated with the travel industry almost from the time he joined the government service in 1929," said Mr. Westwood.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

Re-examination of Christian moral codes relating to sex was urged recently by 600 scientists, educators, and clergymen at a conference at Green Lake, Wis., under the auspices of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and the Canadian Council of Churches. Dr. Sylvanus M. Duvall, professor of social science at George Williams College, in Chicago, Ill., claimed that codes requiring too high a level of ethical sensitivity are harmful. Certainly codes encouraging a low level of behaviour are much more harmful.

Social workers persist in strange nonsense such as fantastic insistence that girls who have babies out of wedlock are not "bad girls." Just what is badness then? To have a baby out of wedlock is bad for the baby: he does not have a normal home except by the mercy of some adopting family. It is bad for society.

It is bad for the man and woman who use one another as things, not as persons. Both are scarred for life. They have tried to satisfy the craving for love with a temporary sexual satisfaction. They have struck a blow at family life and damaged the foundation of society. Is all this good?

Sense of Belonging

Do social welfare workers mean that the use of sex outside marriage makes for healthy interpersonal relations, gives the couple a deep sense of belongingness and shared purpose with mutually enriching experience? Do they know that promiscuity in sex is a sign of insecurity and anxiety, a symptom of emotional and spiritual loneliness and fear?

Social workers should be aware that sex can never be considered apart from the context of the family, home, the care of children, and the fulfilment of man's total personality to its true purpose. When sex becomes mere self-gratification, an egoistic activity without relation to fidelity, loyalty, decency, and spiritual values, then man is degraded. Fornication is bad. The Bible says that no fornicator will inherit the kingdom of God. It says that anyone who defiles the temple of God—his body—him will God destroy.

Sex Becomes Religion

Sex has become a religion. Our books, motion pictures, advertising, the trend to nudity, women's styles, all show an unhealthy pre-occupation with sex which is a sure symptom of social breakdown.

Dr. Ted Engstrom, president of Youth For Christ International, claimed that sex is the number one problem of the teen-ager. The post office department of the United States says that the obscene literature racket amounts to $500,000,000 a year business and 15,000,000 sex magazines are sold in the news stands every month. The libertine philosophy of life has been so exploited that anyone speaking for virtue, chastity, restraint is ridiculed as a puritan or a prude.

It is quite right that a self-righteous attitude of condemnation is cruel and damaging. No one can afford to take a holier-than-thou attitude. We are all sinners. But to condone sin is to debase character.

When Jesus rebuked the hard-hearted Pharisees about to stone a woman taken in adultery He also said to her, "Go and sin no more." There was no doubt in His mind that lust is evil. The most damaging thing one can do to a person in our society is to give the sinner an approving pat on the head which says "good girl!" The example of Jesus is much better.

Majors' Musclemen Silent Last Night

With much swishing of bats and flexing of muscles, New York's M-Men, Roger Maris (left) and Mickey Mantle, met with Detroit's C-Men, Norm Cash (second from right), and Rocky Calavito before first game of their series last night in New York. The four have produced a total of 170 homers this season, but they swished and flexed in vain in last night's game, which failed to produce a homer as Yanks won, 1-0.—(AP Photofax.)

Three Singles, One Run Finish Tigers in Ninth

New York Yankees, shut out on five hits for eight innings by lefthander Don Mossi, broke up a scoreless duel in the ninth with consecutive two-out singles by Elston Howard, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron last night for a 1-0 victory over Detroit Tigers.

The victory, coming before a packed Yankee Stadium house of 65,566—largest single game crowd of the season in the majors—sent the Yankees into a two-and-one-half game lead in the American League race with two more games to be played in their series at New York.

BIG WINNER

Luis Arroyo, knuckleballing ace of the Yankee bullpen, was the winning pitcher. The last of three southpaws to face the Tigers, he came on in the ninth, and retired them in order to post his 12th victory, 10th in a row, against three defeats.

Whitey Ford, going for his 23rd victory, had to leave the game in the fifth inning, complaining of a strained hip muscle. Bud Daley took over from there until relieved by Arroyo.

GREAT JOB

Mossi, now 14-4 for the season and 0-2 against the Yankees, did everything that could be expected of a pitcher. He gave up eight hits and struck out seven, fanning Mickey Mantle three times and Roger Maris once. He retired Mantle and Maris to start the ninth.

Maris, who also grounded into a double play, was 0-for-4. So was Mantle, who now is even with Babe Ruth's pace when he hit 60 homers in 1927. Mantle has 48 and Maris, five games ahead, has 51.

Today the Yankees send Ralph Terry (11-2) against Frank Lary (19-7), who the Tigers fervently hope will continue his happy knack of beating the Yankees. Since joining the Tigers he has beaten the Yanks 28 times, lost to them only nine.

In other American League action, Cleveland Indians ruined the managerial debut of Luman Harris, whipping Baltimore Orioles, 5-4, despite two home runs by Brooks Robinson and one by Whitey Herzog.

NEW MANAGER

Harris was named interim manager of the Orioles yesterday, replacing resigned Paul Richards.

Cincinnati Reds rested again yesterday atop the National League standings, but this time they lost ground in the layoff.

Los Angeles Dodgers moved within two-and-one-half games of the lead with a 4-3 victory over Milwaukee Braves, who were dumped into fourth place, half a game behind San Francisco Giants.

WINNING SINGLE

Dodgers pushed across the winning run in the top of the ninth inning on Johnny Roseboro's single. They capitalized on 10 walks by Braves' Bob Buhl and Don McMahon for three of their runs.

The Giants went 14 innings to beat Chicago Cubs, 4-3, on a triple by rookie shortstop Ernie Bowman.

It was only the second win in eight starts for the Giants, and came in the first attempt at managing by Cub boss Lou Klein.

Back-to-back homers by Andre Rodgers and Cuno Barragan in the third inning accounted for all the Chicago runs.

Bellagente's Rink Upsets Dickson

Carl Bellagente's pickup rink pulled the first major upset of the annual Labor Day Bonspiel at Victoria Curling Club yesterday with an 11-4 victory over defending-champion Jim Dickson of Victoria.

The winners were ahead all the way against the Dickson rink, strengthened this year by the addition of Dickson's brother, Tom, a Dominion Canadian Legion champion who is skipping the rink.

A five-ender in the eighth, when Bellagente's rink led, 8-3, put the game away.

The victory came in the Tyee event, the first primary. Play yesterday was confined to that event and the Spring (second primary) competition. Each rink has now played at least one game.

Curlers took time out for the dinner and dance at the club last night, and continue play today.

Workers Face Tough Task

Art Worth's Transport Workers find themselves in a unique position today as they get ready to take part in the B.C. Senior Amateur Baseball Tournament today at Royal Athletic Park.

As a rule senior teams are supposed to set the example for youngsters to follow. But so successful has the season been for Victoria's minor baseball teams, that Transports find themselves in a spot where they have to win to keep up with the kids.

Victoria's Little League, Pony League and Babe Ruth League teams all won at least a B.C. championship before bowing out in further play in the United States, and the city Connie Mack team got as far as the provincial final.

So now it's up to Transport Workers, and they face quite a chore in winning this B.C. tournament.

In Kelowna, Maple Ridge and Terrace, Transports must beat out teams that have compiled impressive records in their respective leagues, and strengthened for this playoff.

Opening ceremonies today start at 1.30, when mayor Percy B. Scurrah will toss out the first ball. At 2 p.m. Kelowna faces Terrace.

At 6 p.m. it will be Transports against Maple Ridge, which boasts such players as Larry Walker and Rae Fugikawa, who finished one-two in the Dewdney League batting race.

Two more games will be played tomorrow at 2 and 6, and at least two more will be played Monday. If the draw in the double-loss elimination tourney necessitates it, three games will be scheduled Monday at 10 a.m., 2 and 6 p.m.

The Terrace club arrived yesterday, but Kelowna and Maple Ridge teams weren't due in until this morning.

Starting pitcher for Terrace will be Fred Philpott, a right-hander with a 7-1 record.

British Golfers Need Miracle in Seattle To Make Comeback in Walker Cup Play

By HARRY YOUNG

SEATTLE — Nothing short of a golfing miracle will save Britain from its usual Walker Cup fate when the singles are played on Seattle Golf Club's tree-lined course today.

Losing all four foursomes—one of them in heartbreak style—has left the British with the task of winning six of the eight singles to tie and seven to win.

Not even the most fervid of the British supporters think it can be done. The U.S., which has won all its home Walker Cup matches and has lost only once in Britain, made a clean sweep of the foursomes for the fourth time in the series.

Yet it was only by the direst of misfortune at the last of the 36 holes that a gallant British major, David Nair, and Marty Christmas, the youngest player on the side, failed to save one of the foursomes for Britain.

After a magnificent match, in which the U.S. pair, Charlie Coe and Don Cherry, had been three up after playing four holes and later were two down to the British team, the game came to the last hole all square.

Christmas, who had played heroic shots all day, made his one error. Going for a big one for the long final hole, he pushed the ball out of bounds to the right. It was a disaster from which there was no repair, and a crowd of over 2,000 which had been cheering the underdog British to this one last chance, groaned disappointment.

Blair and Christmas were two up at the half way stage, around in a fighting one over par 72, and they should have clinched the match early in the second round, but Blair missed a seven-footer for a birdie win at the first, and then the British pair blew the third taking four from the edge of the green after Coe had been trapped off his tee shot.

From then on it was one up for the British or all square until the out-of-bounds shot at the 36th by Christmas.

MISSED PUTT

In fairness, however, it must be said that at the 35th, Coe, one of the world's best putters, missed a winning birdie three from a three-foot putt. Apart from this match however, the British team looked outclassed.

Deane Beman and Jack Nicklaus, who must be about the most formidable amateur partnership in the world, smothered Scottish policeman Jimmy Walker and oil executive Brian Chapman by 6 and 5.

Having established for themselves a six-hole lead at the halfway stage the top U.S. team was rarely in trouble.

While Walker and Chapman were being led to the inevitable slaughter, two young Britishers in whom big hopes were placed to win one of the matches, were likewise being snuffed out by two venerable old gentlemen who looked as if they might just have been transplanted from the seniors tournament at Oak Bay.

MOST CONSISTENT

The oldsters, Bob Cochran, 49, and Gene Andrews, 48, the latter in a southern belle wide-brimmed straw hat, played the most consistent rounds of the day in overcoming British champion Mike Bonallick and Ronnie Shade by 4 and 3 in what was perhaps the big surprise of the day.

Only towards the close of a long, hot grind did the old men show signs of tiring, but by then they were six up so that the loss of three holes in the last nine did nothing more than make the British score more respectable.

Bonallick was the big disappointment. He not only missed a number of holeable putts, but was also erratic in his long iron play.

Another Briton who did not live up to reputation was Joe Carr, playing in his eighth Walker Cup game. The wiry Irishman partnered Gordon Huddy to 4-and-3 defeat by Bill Hyndman and Bob Gardner largely because they failed to take advantage of breaks when they arose on the putting greens.

CAME TO LIFE

Indeed Carr and Hyndman came to life only when they were on the verge of defeat. Then they rattled in two fine putts for deuces at the short 11th and 13th holes.

In today's singles play, the U.S. captain Jack Westland has dropped Cochran, although he was one of the foursome stars and has put a newcomer Charlie Smith in his place. The British substituted Michael Lunt and David Frame for Huddy and Chapman.

TOP MATCH

Top match will be the U.S. champion Deane Beman against the British champion Bonallick, with the Briton hoping to avenge a Walker Cup defeat by the same player when they met two years ago in England.

Other crowd pleasers will be the clashes between Joe Carr and Jack Nicklaus, and David Blair and Don Cherry. The British hope that they will manage to avoid a complete shutout and are thinking in terms of possibly a couple of victories.

New Look

Sporting new name and new uniforms, last year's Oak Bay Police juvenile football club, now known as Farmer Construction, opens season Monday at 2 p.m. against Nanaimo Redmen at Carnarvon Park. Cricket Star Flies to Mayo

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Former Australian cricket star Neil Marks flew to the United States Friday for a serious heart operation at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

The 22-year-old batsman was one of New South Wales' most promising cricketers prior to his illness. He moved into first class cricket two years ago and scored 180 not out in his first major match.

Darkest Hour

DOLLAR, Scotland (AP)—Scottish athlete Willie Fyfe let fly the hammer in a practice session Friday—and blacked out half the population of this town of 2,000.

His 16-pound iron ball soared into the air and tangled with overhead electric cables. It took engineers an hour to repair the damage.

Arnie Shares Dallas Lead Shooting 67

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the year's big tournament winner; Johnny Pott, the defending champion, and Karl Stewart, the home pro, shot three-under-par 67s Friday to tie for the first round lead in the $30,000 Dallas Open.

All were putting like magic, particularly Stewart, who had an amazing 11 one-putt greens, and only 24 putts all the way round.

And Stewart wound up with a 90-foot chip from off the green for a birdie on 18.

High winds and rough greens caused the scores to soar generally in the field of 140, with Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, having to settle for a 72.

But a dozen of the tour hotshots clipped par over the 6,800-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., Gene Mitchell Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., and Charles Sifford, the first Negro to play in an open tournament in Texas, all posted 68s while veteran Jim Ferrier and Howard Johnson had 69s.

Ngai Sent From Singles

VANCOUVER (CP) — Art Ngai of Victoria was eliminated in the second round of the Pacific National Exhibition closed table tennis championships Friday night.

Ngai, who will be seeded fourth in the open singles event, lost to Matt Parlevleit of Vancouver in straight games, 21-14, 21-19, and 21-16. He won his first round match over Geoff Bullen by scores of 21-12, 21-14 and 21-18.

More Than Ever This Year

When the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association started last season with 711 registered players, it seemed it must surely burst at the seams.

This year it's going to be even bigger.

Another 12 teams and 200 boys are going to be added to Division VII, and an Indian team from the Brentwood reserve will enter either Division VI or VII.

It takes a lot of men to coach and manage 60 teams of youngsters. The hunt is on now for more help—old soccer players or fans who might like to step into the organization and lend a hand. They get their chance Wednesday at 8 p.m. when the association meets at the Little League Park, Cook and Hillside Street.

Sponsors for the new teams are also needed, and any firms or individuals can get complete information at the meeting.

The new teams will be formed from players graduating from the Little Soccer League, which is not affiliated with the Lower Island group but works hand in hand with it. There were 250 Little Soccer League players last year, and most of them will be moving up.

Players entering the Lower Island association start at age 10 in Division VII. From there the divisions advance to the higher age groups, ending with 16-year-olds in Division I. Each year the teams move up into a higher division.

Last year the association extended its territory to take in teams from Sidney, Deep Cove and Langford, and achieved its greatest success yet when Oak Bay Optimists won the Div. III B.C. championship.

This year the association goes for broke — applying to hold the annual B.C. Tournament of Champions in Victoria.

But in the meantime there are teams to form, boys to register and coaches, managers and sponsors to be found. Officials hope to solve part of the manpower shortage Wednesday night.

Nelson Event For Wakeham

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Bill Wakeham of Victoria, former Canadian Junior champion, will defend his crown at the 25th annual Labor Day golf tournament here Sunday and Monday.

Wakeham is one of 60 Kootenay, Coast and Pacific Northwest golfers who have entered the event.

Speedway's Daffodil Cup Should Draw Record Crowd

The biggest weekend in the history of local auto racing—culminating in the Western Canada stock car championships—begins tonight at Western Speedway.

A sellout crowd is expected for tonight's "challenge race" meet, a warm-up in which all visiting cars are allowed to enter regardless of their specifications. Highlight of the night will be a 50-lap main event.

BIG SHOW

But the big show starts Sunday, when cars from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, California, B.C. and Alberta attempt to qualify for Monday night's western Canada championship.

Each car will have five laps in which to post a qualifying time, and they will start Monday's race according to how they time in, with the fastest car at the front of the track.

ALL DAY

Monday's card opens at 7.30 with four heat races featuring non-qualifiers competing for an estimated $800 in prize money.

Then comes the big one—the 150-lap Daffodil Cup race for the western Canada title and a $3,000 purse.

BIG FIELD

A minimum of 33 cars are expected for the weekend's racing. The Alberta, B.C. and Idaho cars will be on hand tonight, but the Washington and Oregon cars will be racing in Salem, Ore., tonight and will not arrive here until tomorrow.

There are quite a few well-known Pacific Northwest drivers entered, but the big wheel in entries so far is Cliff Spaulding of Lynnwood, Wash., who drives cars for a living and has raced in all parts of the United States.

Other Washington drivers include James Fox of Bremerton, Levie Joes of Puyallup, Jess Latham of Bremerton, and Dick Pace of Longview.

Entrants from Idaho are Dick Devlin of Lewiston and Bill Crow of Boise.

Hampshire Captures First Cricket Crown

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (Reuters) — Hampshire won England's county cricket championship for the first time Friday when it defeated Derbyshire by 140 runs.

The victory gives Hampshire 268 points and means it cannot be caught by Yorkshire, its nearest rival.

Hampshire's previous best performance was in 1958, when it finished second to Surrey.

LONDON (Reuters) — The Australians had to be satisfied with a draw against The Gentlemen—amateurs selected from English clubs — in a cricket match that ended at Lord's here Friday. The amateurs, who faced first innings arrears of 227, batted all day, scoring 325 for eight wickets.

The scores:

Hampshire 306 and 262 for eight (declared). Derbyshire 318 and 111.

Surrey 262 and 142, Glamorgan 279 and 126 for one. Glamorgan won by nine wickets.

Kent 208 and 193, Somerset 325 for four (declared) and 80 for one. Somerset won by nine wickets.

Leicestershire 376 for seven (declared) and 256 for two (declared), Sussex 307 and 263. Leicestershire won by 62 runs.

Lancashire 332 and 224, Worcestershire 254 and 274. Lancashire won by 28 runs.

Warwickshire 310 and 277 for seven (declared), Yorkshire 318 for four (declared) and 137 for six. Draw.

McKinley Gets Past First Foe

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) —Chuck McKinley, the best of America's lean amateur tennis crop, smashed out an easy first-round victory in the national championships Friday and said he felt his form was "better than at Wimbledon."

The stocky 20-year-old Davis Cup ace from St. Ann, Mo., needed less than an hour in polishing off George Stoesser, from Tucson, Ariz., 7-5, 6-2, 6-2. McKinley led a parade of men and women favorites into the second round.

Rod Laver, bandy-legged lefty from Australia, drew an opening bye here and will not see action until Sunday when he plays Chauncey Steele III of Cambridge, Mass. Laver is top seeded.

Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., the defending women's champion, won effortlessly from Christine Safford of Lansdowne, Pa., 6-1, 6-2.

Ump Cleared After Scare

HONOLULU (AP)—Pacific Coast League baseball umpire John P. Tobin Friday was cleared of charges that he caused a bomb scare Aug. 6 at Honolulu International Airport.

Magistrate Kenneth W. Harada freed the 40-year-old umpire, ruling that the prosecution failed to prove "the material elements" of the charge.

He Signed Roger Maris

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Jack J. O'Connor, 49, baseball scout for Chicago White Sox who signed Roger Maris to his first professional contract, died Tuesday in hospital of a heart attack.

O'Connor signed Maris, the New York Yankee slugger, in Fargo, N.D., in 1953. At that time O'Connor was president and part owner of the Fargo club.

Try Tougher Turf

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One question I get thrown at me fairly often is—when is the best time to put down grass seed. Some of these folks are planning on sowing a new lawn, and in fact have been at work for most of the summer preparing the seed bed. Others wish to oversow an existing lawn to thicken up the stand of grass.

For my money, the best time to sow grass seed is around the middle of September. Not that it makes too much difference in our favored climate, for as long as you can apply water and keep the germinating seed from drying out, a sowing made even in the dog days of midsummer has a good chance of succeeding, but gentle rains can usually be expected in September, and the cool nights and heavy dews all serve to get a new lawn off to a good start.

* * *

Another frequent question in my mail is what kind of grass seed to buy, and here I am on rather shaky ground. In our climate, where we get no extremes of heat or cold, the choice of grass varieties is very wide and can be governed largely by personal preference and the uses to which the lawn will be put.

The finest of all lawns, from the standpoint of appearance anyway, is made from Velvet Bent, with one of the Colonial Bent varieties as second choice. These are fine-leafed dwarf grasses spreading by underground creeping rootstocks and above-ground runners to form a dense, fine turf. Trouble is, the bent grasses require an enormous amount of work and care to keep them in good condition.

In mowing, for instance, you have to go over the same patch two or three times, raking between passes to elevate the above-ground runners so they will be cut. Weeding, too, is quite a chore in a bent grass lawn, for you can't use chemical weed-killers and the invaders must be eradicated the hard way—down on your hunkers, spudding them out one by one.

* * *

My children are about as destructive to grass as a herd of stampeding elephants, and I don't care to have my stomach doing flip-flops every time a foot skids in the turf during play. For this reason, I prefer a somewhat coarser lawn with better wearing qualities, and one that doesn't consume too much of my limited gardening time. I want a tough sward which will stand up under boisterous games, in which the garden furniture won't leave permanent marks, and in the case of the back lawn, I don't want to see a path worn alongside the clothesline where my wife hangs out the laundry.

My choice of seed for such a lawn would be one of the second-grade, cheaper mixtures containing roughly equal parts of Kentucky Blue Grass and Chewings Fescue, and if you ask any seedsman for his second-best mixture, chances are this is what you'll get. The Fescue might be Creeping Red instead of Chewings, which doesn't make a great deal of difference.

* * *

If you mix your own, you can be a little more fussy as to what kind of Kentucky Blue and what kind of Fescue. Marion Blue is an improved variety of Kentucky — dwarfer, deeper rooting, more drought-resistant and a slightly darker shade of green—and while it costs better than twice as much as ordinary Kentucky, the seeds are very small, so you get more to the pound and it goes twice as far.

Park is an even newer variety of Kentucky, not quite as handsome nor quite as good as Merion, but the seed germinates quicker than any other grass, establishing a lawn before the weeds get a chance. Penn State is an improved and slightly more expensive variety of Chewings Fescue.

To sum up, any seedsman's second-best seed mixture will give you a hard-wearing lawn. If I wanted to go first class, I would use a 50-50 mixture of Park and Penn States.

Swedes Put Survival First

STOCKHOLM — "The greatest crime you can commit in Switzerland," a friend told me the moment I arrived, "is not murder or rape. It's violation of Swiss neutrality." When you arrive in Sweden, which is perhaps even more ferociously neutral than Switzerland, neutrality moves out of the field of high crime into that of religion.

Neutrality is about as arguable here as Christianity in an American election. All parties are for it, including the Communists. The Swedish objection to the Common Market, the most massive test Swedish neutrality has ever had to face, is that it will ultimately become a political as well as an economic union. The Swedes want none of that even though the alternative may be economic ruin.

* * *

But completely apart from the economic and political aspects, neutrality leaves measurable footprints all over the human spirit. A century and a half of peace and neutrality has contributed a note of dullness to Sweden. "You go out for dinner here," said an American living here, "and no one wants to talk foreign affairs or world politics. They couldn't care less."

"The Swedes are scared to get involved," said a girl who lives here. "I took a Swedish diplomat aboard a Russian boat for a cocktail party. He was scared to death the boat might leave with him aboard. 'What would the papers say?' he kept asking. 'A Swedish diplomat on a Russian boat'."

But scared they're not. The Swedes have no allies and stand alone (with the fourth largest air force in the world which has 1,000 jet planes as its principal defence) and that—if I were a Swede—would scare hell out of me in the modern world. No country has prepared for atomic war more thoroughly than this little country. In fact, it might be said to be the only country that is prepared at all. It has air raid shelters for 2,000,000 of its 7,500,000, but actually it has a plan of dispersal for all its citizens.

* * *

The bomb shelters are just part of the benevolent and paternalistic society which wraps a fierce grip about its citizens from cradle to grave, gives its children free lunches and sex education, and its old folks the best care in the world. But the Swedes themselves are the first to admit this doesn't make them the most exciting race in the world. One Swedish conservative leader in the CBS "Twentieth Century" documentary on Sweden, called "Trouble in Paradise," said:

"Public life and private life is a bit dreary. The only unorganized thing is sleep."

* * *

But dullness is a very superficial estimate of the Swedes, who are a terribly complex race. I'm nuts about Ingmar Bergman's movies, which are dark, brooding explorations of Swedish character, full of surprises and nuances of the joys and despairs of living. The Swedes have cast their lot and their social philosophy around the mundane joys of living rather than the poetic joys of dying for causes or liberty or, even, for love.

* * *

But the arts of living, which the Swedes so assiduously cultivate, are proving almost as prickly as those of war and world politics. Take sex, for instance. While they're a bit touchy on the subject, Swedish sexual — shall we say—permissiveness is widely renowned. Puritans and religious groups criticize the Swedes for promiscuity and immorality, but other more broadminded folks criticize the Swedes for more interesting reasons in this matter.

"They've taken all the gamesmanship out of the thing," complains a girl who lives here. "After all, the French are pretty open-minded about sex, too, but they observe the rules of play. Will she or won't she? A girl can be a little coy and hesitant with a Frenchman. Here it's like asking if you want to play tennis."

* * *

This easy gratification has produced some rather odd social behavior. Stockholm is full of some of the most beautiful women on earth, thousands of them. Yet, on any night, and especially on Saturday nights, Stockholm's bars and restaurants are full of men, in parties of three, four and six, all drinking happily together without women. Without the girls to slow them down, they drink very fast, many of them get very drunk, and they seem to be having a hell of a good time.

Hollywood Today — By Sheilah Graham

Romance Timed Right

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—It must be getting serious. Marilyn Maxwell won't talk about her dates with the No. 1 eligible bachelor in Hollywood—Rock Hudson. If this isn't a romance, they're giving a very good imitation of the real thing. . . . You have to be good on timing. Rock coming into Marilyn's life just as she is about to start a new television series, "Bus Stop," has given her and it lots of publicity.

* * *

Marlon Brando's $2,000,000 salary to date for "Mutiny on the Bounty" will grow by another $250,000 before the picture ends in about another month or so.

* * *

It was touch and go with Karl Malden, he is now telling friends, when he was rushed off the "How the West Was Won" location with a ruptured appendix. Karl, now toiling in "All Fall Down," couldn't accept John Huston's bid of $125,000 to play a starring role in "Freud."

* * *

Ever since Brigitte Bardot announced she would be retiring after her next movie, all the cuties of Paris are promoting their best visual assets in hopes of taking her place. The queen is dead, long live the queen sort of thing. . . . But in spite of Bardot's statement, she gets picture offers every day. The latest is to star for Martin Poll in "Hero of St. Roger."

* * *

Doris Day is a thumb sucker. Doris, now co-starring with Cary Grant in "A Touch of Mink," chews on her thumb between takes and can even read dialogue with her thumb in her mouth. Betty Grable did the same thing. And another thumb chewer was the late Errol Flynn.

* * *

George Peppard has succumbed to Hollywood. At one time he said it was a place to work but not to live. He moves to his home in Hollywood Hills from Chula Vista in October.

* * *

They are polishing up Cary Grant's Rolls-Royce in England. He is due there soon, to visit his mother and to star in a spy thriller with partner Stanley Donen. . . . Bing Crosby told them in London that during his 35 years in show business he has earned between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000. That's more than $1,000,000 each year. And when Bing started they told him show biz was a fly-by-night profession—and lots of people didn't call it a "profession."

Bard's Poetry Lost In Opera Ventures

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Shakespeare defeats composers who try to turn his plays into operas, Robertson Davies, editor, author and critic, said Thursday night.

Mr. Davies, editor of the Peterborough Examiner addressed the national convention of the Royal Canadian College of Organists here.

Only six of the 86 operas written in the last 200 years survive today, he said. Verdi wrote three and the others were by Berlioz, Nicolai and the modern English composer, Benjamin Britten.

Mr. Davies said Shakespeare's vitality was not in his plots—mainly stolen—but in his poetry; and in opera music takes precedence over poetry.

Of Big Fires

Sun Singes Fringes

ST. JOHN'S (CP)—Hot sun beat down on Newfoundland's burning forests for the second straight day Friday, creating flareups on the fringes of major fires.

Firefighters were kept on the hop preventing the spread of flareups into infernos.

Foresters said there still was great concern over the potential danger "but the situation is fairly well contained."

Meanwhile the worst seems to be over in B.C.'s fire-ravaged forests.

That was the word both in the vast interior forests district where 115 fires still burn and from forestry department headquarters in Victoria.

"It looks as if we're on the downhill grade . . . the rain has licked the fires for us," said Kamloops assistant district forester Norman MacRae.

Department spokesmen said fire losses will come close to the $37,000,000 timber loss in 1960.

Sell Tigon? No, Ma'am!

TORONTO (CP) — The offspring of a tiger father and a lion mother, says Evelyn Currie, 35, a lion trainer from Decatur, Tenn., who has one, is called a "tigon."

"I've been offered $36,000 for him, but this is something that money can't buy," she says.

One Vote Not Enough?

Opposition Grows To Parking Bylaw

Alderman Supports Downtown Protest

The city's $1,115,000 downtown parking bylaw—barely approved by voters Thursday—lost most of its glitter yesterday with increasing opposition from downtown property owners and one of the city's own aldermen.

"If I were the mayor I'd throw the bylaw in the waste-paper basket," said Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean.

Victoria lawyer E. H. M. Foot, one of a group considering challenging the validity of the bylaw in court, said another five downtown property owners approached him yesterday and offered to help back an appeal.

Mayor Percy Scurrah spent some time closeted with City Manager C. C. Wyatt and City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady, discussing strategy.

A special meeting of city council will likely be held Thursday to decide the next move.

TWO CHOICES

Council has two choices. It can give final reading to the bylaw and move ahead, risking a court case by disgruntled property owners, or it can refer the bylaw to the B.C. legislature for ratification.

Ratification would remove most of the threat of court action but the bylaw would be delayed six months until the legislature meets.

KNOW SCORE

The bylaw needed 80 votes in Thursday's election to be approved. It gained 81.

"The men who are in business down there (downtown Victoria) should know the score, and if they feel this is not the kind of business that will be helpful to them I feel sure council will not want to go against them," said Ald. McLean.

ANY REASON

"What I think now is, I wonder if there is any reason why city council should go ahead with a proposition like this. It is certainly for the men down there in business to determine if they like it or not.

"I don't think the answer is conclusive for the city to go ahead."

SLIM MARGIN

Ald. McLean said he felt council should require a greater margin of support for the scheme than the single vote gained Thursday.

"If it were 90 per cent I would think that was a suitable percentage. The question is, where do we go from here?

ASSIST THEM

". . . But supposing this is not proceeded with, what are the business firms going to do. It was city council's desire to assist them in any way practicable," he said.

"I would be happy if someone who voted against this would come up with an alternate proposal. It is easy enough to knock down a thing like this."

TWO GARAGES

Under the terms of the bylaw, council plans to borrow $1,115,000, buy two downtown lots and build two off-street parking garages—one to hold 400 cars and the other to hold 200.

Owners of downtown property would be held responsible for any losses.

FIVE OFFERS

Mr. Foot said five property owners had offered financial help for any challenge against the bylaw in court.

"I was rather surprised. People I don't know at all phoned me up."

Off Prison

Two Colwood fishermen drifted for six hours after they were refused permission to land their disabled boat at the William Head minimum security prison.

Terry White, 3176 Glen Lake, and Robert Fisher said they were refused permission to land by a prison guard.

LOST PROPELLER

The pair said their boat lost its propeller while they were fishing off William Head Tuesday.

After paddling for an hour, they managed to bring the boat to the shore at the prison.

There, they said, a guard told them they would be arrested if they landed.

STILL SAID NO

"We explained our problem to him and he could see we had no propeller, but he still told us to leave," said Mr. White.

He said the guard suggested they paddle around the point to shelter.

They eventually managed to bring their boat to shore at Esquimalt, after paddling more than eight miles through the choppy water.

NEVER REFUSE

J. J. Sheridan, acting assistant warden at the prison, said his men would never refuse help in a case like this.

"There must have been some other circumstances," he said.

Car Hits Boy On Walk

A five-year-old boy is in fairly good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital after being struck down on the sidewalk by a car which went out of control following a collision yesterday afternoon.

Gordon Gillis, 1056 Foul Bay, was treated for cuts to the side of the head and face.

Police said a truck driven on Foul Bay by James C. Smith, 1641 Edgeware, and a car driven on Oak Bay Avenue by Doris Winnifred Davis, 1210 Beach, collided.

The Davis car mounted the curb at the northwest corner and struck the Gillis boy as he walked along the sidewalk.

$500,000 Project

Bylaw May Squelch Big Apartment Plan

A $500,000, eight-storey apartment building on Douglas Street, overlooking Beacon Hill Park, is planned by a Victoria construction firm, Pattison Construction Ltd.

But the plans may run afoul of a city zoning bylaw which could limit the building to six floors.

Victoria architects Wade, Stockdill and Armour have applied to city hall for the rezoning of a site on Douglas at Niagara to allow multiple dwelling construction. Present zoning is limited commercial.

The zoning bylaw allows a building of six floors or 75 feet in height.

Design of the building shows eight floors and a two-apartment penthouse with a total height of 72 feet, three inches.

A total of 49 one and two-bedroom suites is planned with a total of 61,740 square feet of space. Off-street parking is included in the plan, with space for 40 cars.

The regular meeting of city council Sept. 14 will consider the application and a report from the advisory planning commission.

One Store Window Smashed

Gales Knock Limbs Into Limbo

Weather-dried tree branches bore the brunt of brisk winds which swept through Greater Victoria overnight Thursday and fanned up to moderate gale strength again yesterday.

While both electric and telephone linemen were kept on the job from 2 a.m. Friday to repair wind-caused breaks, most of the damage reported was confined to trees.

Branches were reported down in many parts of the city—on Rockland between Moss and Government House, in the 500 block of Selkirk, at Pandora and Cook, at Claremont and Del Monte in Saanich and in open fields in Esquimalt.

One store window—at the Sussex Dress Shop, 1011 Douglas—was broken early Friday by the wind, and a strip of sheet metal blown loose on the front of the York Theatre on Government.

After diminishing in the later part of the morning, the winds, from the west-southwest, freshened to moderate gale force of 36 miles an hour, with gusts to 57 miles an hour, at 2:45 p.m.

By 5:15 p.m. they had eased to 33 with gusts to 44 and were expected to drop to 15 during the night.

Joe Flubb Goes Hunting for Disaster Today

Joe Flubb joined other Vancouver Island grouse hunters this morning and because of his adroitness with firearms is expected to join his ancestors later today. Here he demonstrates that his way of removing shotgun from a car is better than removing it butt-first and broken open, because when triggers snag on packsack he gets a chance to find out if it's loaded.

Flubb likes to carry several different sizes of shotgun shells in his pocket and discounts the hazard of firing a 12-gauge into a 20-gauge shell lodged halfway down the barrel. Last time he only suffered the loss of his left ear.

What smart guy is going to put his nice shiny fowling piece down in the dirty old grass when he goes through a fence? Flubb didn't get to be office manager by being dumb, he points out. He's got a point too, because he is a lot smarter than the last office manager, who made the mistake of advancing through a fence with Flubb following behind.

When his nerves get a bit edgy, Joe just reaches into that big packsack and comes up with a flagon of tonic. He may get a bit careless with Old Betsy, but he never worries about it because he can't remember it afterwards.

Toward day's end Joe gets a bit fuzzy about directions, but this highway map is a great comfort to him back in the wilderness. He won't get far, anyway, after he blows that foot off.—(Colonist photos by Ted Harris; Joe Flubb portrayed by Bob Pethick.)

Chest Orders Survey

More Than 50 Agencies In United Appeal Here?

Greater Victoria's Community Chest directors voted unanimously yesterday to ask an independent group to conduct a survey aimed at streamlining the Chest into a full-fledged United Appeal.

Directors will ask their newly-formed advisory board to take on the job of seeing if all health, welfare and community service agencies in Greater Victoria can be united under one banner.

STEP ASIDE

Directors also agreed that, if a sufficient number of currently independent agencies indicate willingness to take part, the Chest would be willing to step aside in favor of a new United Appeal Fund.

A favorable response could mean as many as 50 or more health, welfare and community service agencies would be united in a single fund-raising campaign each year.

NEW AGENCY

At present the Community Chest has 22 member agencies.

The directors also voted to accept the Boys' Club of Victoria as a member agency.

Announcement of the acceptance was heralded as "a first practical step in the reduction of the multiplicity of appeals."

EXTRA $10,000

Directors tacked an additional $10,000 onto this year's goal of $310,000 to provide funds for the new agency.

One of the main advantages from a United Fund, they said, is a reduction in fund-raising costs for individual drives. It would slice the campaign cost factor to as low as five to 10 cents to the dollar.

ON THE JOB

And citizens, by participation in on-the-job employee funds, have indicated their desire for a single campaign.

A year ago, a Community Chest survey of 4,000 citizens showed 80 per cent in favor of a single yearly campaign.

Directors of the Chest explained that if the survey proves successful, the Community Chest would be dissolved, but its organization and assets would be placed at the disposal of the new organization.

The new United Appeal would not be an addition to something that already exists, an official explained. It would be a "fresh start," with an all-inclusive objective.

The directors will ask the advisory board to approach the large number of separate organizations and ask for their co-operation in developing a United Fund.

Justin Harbord, elected president of the Chest for the balance of the year, said:

FED UP NOW

"I am sure the whole community is in favor of this concept: And I am sure that it is completely fed up with the present multiplicity of drives."

Mr. Harbord replaces Eric Mallet, who resigned to take up a new appointment for B.C. Telephone Co. in Vancouver.

Lawyer George Gregory and Dr. Peter Banks have been appointed first and second vice-presidents, replacing W. C. Mearns and A. E. Walters.

MORE TIME

Mr. Mearns resigned to devote more time to his new appointment as director and vice-president in charge of development for the government-owned B.C. Electric.

Mr. Walters resigned after being elected president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Dockyard Airport On Show

The navy will throw its Dockyard gates open to the public next Saturday during annual open house of the RCN's Pacific Command on Navy Day.

This year, for the first time, the public is also welcome to inspect the navy's utility air squadron, VU 33, based at Patricia Bay Airport.

'Get Tough' Policy Halts Illegal Work

Victoria's zoning board of appeal has issued a stop-work order against a city contractor making alterations to a house without permission.

The move points up a "get tough" policy adopted by the board this week to halt illegal construction work in Victoria.

A number of buildings erected before adoption of the present zoning and building bylaws do not meet bylaw requirements.

When an owner of one of these buildings wants to make alterations or additions, he must apply to the board for permission.

If the board rules in favor, a building permit is then issued, city planner Roderick Clack said last night.

"But an increasing number of applicants consider their submission to the board as being sufficiently automatic to allow them to proceed before a ruling is made.

"The board wishes it to be made clear that any construction in advance of the case being considered will result in the case being rejected."

Nobody Wants Bumpy Buses

Gonzales Avenue residents are happy now that buses have been rerouted around their street, but the change has stirred up a host of complaints by householders along the new route.

A petition signed by 16 residents living on the new route will be considered by city council's transit committee when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Along with it will be considered the complaints of residents along the old route.

STARTED MONDAY

New bus routes which went into effect Monday took buses along Despard, along a one-block section of Gonzales, to Richardson.

Residents on Gonzales complained that buses were vibrating their houses and the route was changed temporarily to Despard, Richmond and Richardson.

MOVED AGAIN

A petition asking that the buses be moved again, either back to Gonzales or to a former route along Richmond and Quamichan, was taken door to door by Peter Fowles, 1740 Richardson, and Capt. E. J. Folwell, 651 Richmond.

"It isn't fair for them (Gonzales residents) to get rid of their problem and dump it in our laps," Mr. Fowles said last night.

Gold Garters Come First —Then Go for the Moon

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

WAY TO THE STARS: A U.S. senator said recently he would rather shoot for an even higher standard of living for his people than strive to be the first to reach the moon.

Lawyer Don Anderson passes on a list of some goods advertised in the States which convinces him the standard of living there is already out of this world.

Among the products available:

A "Venus fly trap," being a plant guaranteed to catch and eat live insects as well as raw beef (three bulbs for $1); a giant, 30-foot balloon alleged to be great fun at the beach (price, $2 or five for $10); 14-karat gold garters said to be elegantly practical and appropriate for women whose skin is sensitive (set of four, $55).

Beautiful Lorelei, the Hollywood six-foot mermaid, said to be a real sensation at beach parties and luaus—"I'll suggested to the men that for a million laughs, take her along as a travelling companion in your convertible." (price, $11.98); two sets of cuff links and tie bars, one with initials "TGIF" standing for "Thank Goodness It's Friday," and the other "MGIM" for "My Goodness It's Monday" (price $8.95); a diamond toothpick for the man who has everything else (price, a mere $15).

A "hangover" hat, said to be the greatest invention since martinis, being a vinyl hat with sealed-in, perine-lemp fluid which one can keep in the refrigerator and pop it on the morning after (price, rainbow colors only, $4.95); a cocktail watch for those who never drink before five. All the numerals on the face are five (price, $17.95).

"All these extravagantly impractical gifts remind me of the Texan who bought his dog a son," said Don.

JUMBLED JOTTINGS: As the odd-looking little ferries Motor Princess and Delta Princess moved toward their Swartz Bay jetty to be taken over by the provincial government yesterday, an observer was heard to mutter: "Gee, they look like the Chinese navy!" . . . and ferry company head Gavin Mouat, in greeting Premier Bennett on the deck of the Motor Princess, said: "Welcome aboard our ship—or your ship, I should say!" . . . Last June we mentioned the wonderful bargain going for $1 in the form of membership in the Maritime Museum of B.C. in Esquimalt. This resulted in six new members joining up. Are there another six people who can afford $1?

Military Wedding In Cathedral

At a ceremony conducted by Rev. Canon R. E. H. Howell in Christ Church Cathedral recently, Rosina V. McIlwaine, niece of Mrs. S. G. McIlveen, Seattle, Wash., was united in marriage with Lieut. Kenneth Hickford, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. George McIlveen was lovely in a gown of white nylon organza, the sabrina neckline featuring a deep yoke of lace and the full skirt having a pannier effect with lace applique at either side.

Her fingertip veil of Chantilly lace was held by a pearl crown and she carried a white Bible covered with red roses.

Matron of honor Mrs. N. McIlveen wore a shocking pink satin dress and bridesmaids Misses Flora McDonald, Seattle, and Pamela Gaunt, Vancouver, were in cerise satin. Kerry McIlveen was flower girl. All carried bouquets of off white gladiolus.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hickford, Bay Street, had Lieut. Lawrence C. Kempffer, RCHA, as best man. Lieut. J. A. B. Hill, RCA, and Lieut. S. Fancy, RCHA, acted as ushers.

As the couple left the Cathedral they passed under a military guard of honor formed from 5 Independent Medium Battery RCA, the groom's former unit.

Autumn Tones Lead Canadian Colors

By JANET WILSON

MONTREAL (CP) — Ensembles in vivid shades and interesting shapes were featured Wednesday in a showing of the fall and winter collection of the Association of Canadian Couturiers.

Main colors were gold, green, reds, black and white in synthetics blended with such textured fabrics as velvet, crepe, wool worsted and mohair.

Shapes ranged from a low-waisted through a straight sheath to a very high-waisted effect. A few of the outfits were belted. Skirts for the most part were gently flared and many had panels.

France Davies of Montreal showed a bloused off-white crepe dress under a black velvet split-level, shirred coat. Frances Stewart of Ottawa showed a teal blue ensemble with two of the five panels in the coat lined in black broadtail.

D'Anjou of Montreal showed a loose, wrap-around gold coat which ended in a side triangle outlined in black braid. The coat was worn over a sleeveless, split-panelled tunic. A long-sleeved printed dress was worn under the tunic.

Angelina of Toronto showed a red collarless coat with a loosely sashed white wool jersey dress. Another coat had open sides which formed front and back panels.

Mario di Nardo of Montreal featured a printed chiffon in subdued tones of aqua, mauve and pink. The gown, like many of the others modelled at the show, had a low-cut back.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is the top man in his company and our friends envy our family life. To outsiders it appears ideal. My husband doesn't think we have a problem, but I don't agree.

Our eight-year-old boy is bossed by his two sisters and he is unable to hold his own with other boys. I feel he needs time and attention from his father. His father says he is doing his share by being home every night. Last week I kept track and he didn't have one friendly conversation with the boy. He answered a few questions curtly and, then said "Leave me alone so I can have some peace and quiet."

I fear one day there will be regrets and it will be too late. How about this?—D. M.

Dear D. M.: A father who doesn't speak to his children can be replaced by a clothing store dummy.

Every male child needs the companionship of a grown man so he can learn first-hand how men do things. A boy whose early life is spent primarily with sisters and mother can grow up to be girlish.

Your husband should begin at once to establish some communication with his son. It's later than he thinks.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My 18-year-old niece became engaged to a baboon-type who is 18 and still riding around on a bicycle. Both kids graduated from high school in June and are working at a super-market.

We invited them over to dinner last evening and they talked baby talk and couldn't keep their hands off each other.

My teen-age children commented when the couple left that they behaved like donkeys. I decided to phone my sister and tell her to straighten these kids out. She was indignant and said I was narrow-minded. According to her, young love is beautiful and there is nothing wrong with expressing it openly. Comment please—O. B.

Dear O. B.: Young love is beautiful, but what you describe is not love, nor even a reasonable facsimile. Kids lolly-gagging and pawing each other is plain revolting. Unsolicited advice is usually unwelcome and often unwise—but the viewpoint you expressed is completely sound.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a bachelor in my early 30's and not jerky enough to ask you to pick out a wife for me, but a frank answer to my question would help.

I've dated all types, from 20 to 40, and I'm just about ready to make a choice. The one I want is 24. She's not interested in looks, fast talk or foolishness. She told me before she marries a man she will insist on knowing how much he makes, what he has in the bank, what he owes, what his financial responsibilities to his mother are, what kind of insurance he has, how much he wants to spend for rent, a ring, etc. In other words, she wants to know everything.

I asked her if a man's character counts and she said "You bet. But I can learn about that from his behavior." Does she sound too commercial?—HARRY.

Dear Harry: She sounds pretty sensible to me. A woman has the right to know the answers to all these things before she marries. The divorce courts are crowded with couples who failed to settle finances in advance.

Married in Garden Of Family Home

A pretty wedding was solemnized recently when Marilyn Gay Kellie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Kellie of Rockland Avenue, was united in marriage with Mr. Robert Henry Robson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Robson, Millstream Road, Langford.

Mr. C. R. McGillvray officiated at the ceremony which took place in the garden of the family home on Rockland Avenue.

The bride, preceded by her sister Jill and her cousin Sharon Fahey, entered the garden on the arm of her uncle, Mr. William Lugrin Fahey. They proceeded along the upper path, down the stone steps and down the lawn of the middle terrace.

Miss Kellie chose a wedding frock of nylon organza with fitted bodice, bracelet-length sleeves with bouffant skirt and satin cummerbund. Her chapel veil fell from a pearl coronet, which was centred by the groom's gift of a pearl with chip diamond in the setting. She carried an armful of rapture roses and stephanotis.

Miss Jill Fahey wore a nylon chiffon gown over a deeper pink sheath and wore roses in her hair and carried white gladioli. Miss Kellie wore pink also with white shoes, pink gloves and a ribbon and rose ornament in her hair. She carried a pink and white nosegay.

Best man was Mr. Donald Robson, brother of the groom and ushers were Mr. John Fahey, Mr. David Creech, Mr. David Johnson and Mr. Glen Holloway.

The bride's table was set up in the garden with the three-tiered cake flanked by white asters and red roses. Coffee was served on the verandah, poured by Miss Frances Howarth.

For a honeymoon by car in the interior, the bride changed into a white sheath with bone-white jacket and red gladiolus corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Robson will reside in Langford on their return.

Marilyn Arnold Weds W. A. Williams

A double-ring wedding ceremony took place last evening in St. Andrew's Cathedral when Miss Marilyn Helen Arnold became the bride of Mr. William Clinton Williams.

Father Bernard P. Hanley officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Arnold, 86 Sims Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Williams, 2912 Quadra Street.

The bride was charming in a floor-length gown of heavy satin peau de soie, with over bodice of French lace scattered with seed pearls. The neckline was scalloped and the sleeves came to a point over the wrists. Her bouffant chapel veil of tulle was centred with a large silk organza flower. She carried a cascade bouquet of large white mums and ivy.

Miss Sandra Jones, maid-of-honor, and Miss Joan Cannon, Bridesmaid, wore identical short belled dresses of organdy over taffeta in ferny green.

They were designed with cap sleeves and Sabrina necklines, and were decorated with floral embroidery. Headresses of tulle were centred with a large green flower. They carried crescent-shaped bouquets.

Best man was the groom's twin brother, Mr. Carl Williams, and ushers were Mr. Gary Bosence, Mr. Lawrence Williams and Mr. Robert Arnold.

At the reception at Holyrood House the Davis Trio played.

For a honeymoon on the mainland, the new Mrs. Williams changed into an Italian knit suit in Parma violet shade and wore an orchid corsage.

On returning from the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside on Newport Avenue, Victoria.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I am deeply grateful to my many friends and relations for kindness and sympathy shown to me and bereavement, the sudden passing of my dear husband Sidney Heaps Shaw. To Rev. Joseph Buchanan Bernardin, the American Episcopalian minister in Munich for his comforting ministry; also the British Vice-Consulate and his wife for their kindness and friendship. Mr. and Mrs. D. Heard, Alma M. Shaw.

9 IN MEMORIAM

FULTON—In loving memory of my dear wife, Maud, and our mother, who passed away Sept. 2, 1957.
The very echo of her voice,
The sunshine of her smile,
The little things she said and did
Are with us all the while.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Ever lovingly remembered by her husband Jim, son Charles, daughters Irene, Dorothy and Phyllis.

SCOTT—In memory of William Scott who departed this life September 2, 1960.
"Some day we'll understand."
—Gladys.

SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln-dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for gluing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS

Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

The LOWREY "Holiday" Organ
$1167
. . . With Features You'd Expect Only In Much Higher-Priced Organs!

TWO VERY SPECIAL HELPS ALL LOWREY ORGANS GIVE THE BEGINNER

1. TOUCH TABS
Even your first few minutes at the keyboard, you find yourself creating beautiful melodies. You just touch a tab—every one of them is clearly marked—and you get any effect you wish. Even if you don't read a note, Lowrey's Minit-Music starts you playing right away.

2. REVERBERATING ECHO CHAMBER EFFECTS — FULL MANUAL AND PEDAL SUSTAIN
Just touch a sustain tab, manual or pedal, and it carries music over from note to note; puts pleasing "flow" into your music which helps the beginner—sound better than he really is.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Alert defence will sometimes set declarer a problem when he seems due for an easy ride. On this hand South probably makes ten tricks if the defenders play in routine fashion, but as the play went he committed one trifling error and found himself with only seven.

South would be quite wrong to bid more than two hearts on the second round. Although his hand is strong, the dummy may be hopeless. As it is, dummy is far from useless but two hearts is as high as South wants to go against wide awake defenders.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	2 ♣	Pass	Pass
2 ♡	All Pass

Opening lead: ♣ K

When West holds the first trick he must consider carefully. He can see that if South has either or both of the missing diamond honors that suit will provide discards. So a passive defence, which would actually give South ten tricks, is out, and the spades must be tried. East won the spade shift and returned the spade jack, which declarer incautiously covered. This gave the defence an opportunity of which they took full advantage. West won with the spade king and cashed the club ace. He then played the spade nine, which East overtook to fire back the spade four.

This punctured South's complacency, for he now realized that he was in grave danger of losing a trick to the heart jack. He decided, correctly up to a point, that the heart length, and therefore the heart jack, were likely to be with East when West was known to be long in clubs. To guard against West holding a singleton heart jack he ruffed high, played another top trump, and crossed to the board to finesse the heart ten. A better play would be to take a discard on the thirteenth spade, thus guarding against the more likely small singleton trump with West. But as the cards lie both these lines of play fail and the defenders get their just reward.

A $25,000 HOME FOR $17,300
$[illegible] DOWN
Or Less if Desired
We are sure you cannot buy a home comparable to this for under $25,000. This home is designed by John A. Di Castri, M.R.A.I.C. Only a professional would see and create a home like this to take advantage of privacy, the outlook and view. Only a professional would see and coordinate the beautiful colors with the surrounding area—bordering on a natural park—use woods on the exterior and interior—substituting wood for stucco which is so distressingly abundant in Victoria. Some of the many features of this home are the 4 bedrooms or 3 bedrooms plus family room, the beautiful kitchen and its many cabinets, the glass panels for light and solar heat in the living room and dining room, the specially designed fireplace, the expensive coordinated light fixtures, the 2 bathrooms with ceramic tile floors and large vanities, the roughed-in rumpus room, the full high basement, the landscaping and last—but not the least important—the low NHA monthly payments of $[illegible] (P and I). Low taxes, $[illegible].

Air-Wave Rulers Face Challenge For First Time

OTTAWA (CP)—The first legal challenge of a recommendation made by the Board of Broadcast Governors since it was set up in 1958 was started Friday.

Notices were filed in the Supreme Court of Ontario of applications for writs to block the operation of a Stranraer, Sask., rebroadcasting station of CFQC-TV Saskatoon.

Sought by the owners of station CJFB-TV Swift Current, Sask., are court orders quashing the BBG's April 21 recommendation that the Stranraer outlet be licensed.

The lawsuit essentially is a test of the board's power to attach to a recommendation a condition calling for a revision of the applicant's technical brief.

The action arises from BBG rejection of a competing CJFB-TV bid for a Kindersley rebroadcasting station.

Whoopers Discovered

OTTAWA (CP)—Helicopter sightings of 11 adult whooping cranes and three young were reported Friday.

The rare birds were located in the whooping crane nesting grounds in Wood Buffalo National Park on the Alberta-Northwest Territories boundary.

Waterless Villagers Drink Again Today

VANDERHOOF, B.C. (CP)—The army, civil defence and health and highways departments came to the aid of this thirsty village yesterday.

The village of 1,600 has had only a limited supply of water since Monday when a sand cave-in blocked its artesian well.

Villagers today should get their first good drink and wash since Monday.

An army chlorination unit and a highways department pump and pipe arrived first and a system was rigged up to carry drinkable water from the Nechako River a mile away. A health inspector was on hand to test the water.

Civil defence played its part by sending an 11-ton fire truck to the village from Vancouver.

Flash Flood Kills Five in Family

TIMMONS, Ont. (UPI)—A flash flood brought on by heavy rains claimed five lives Friday and drove about 200 persons from their homes.

Four of the victims died when trapped in a basement apartment and the fifth, an infant, drowned in a flooded automobile.

The dead were Mrs. Paul Girard, 31, her daughters Mary Anne, one month, Liza, 7, and Dianne, 12, and David St. James, 4, a ward of the Children's Aid Society, who was living with the Girard family. Girard and another daughter, Suzanne, 11, escaped.

Ten hours of continuous rain dumped almost two inches of water on this northern Ontario gold mining centre.

Water from a swollen creek, along with the downpour, burst into the Girard apartment and also flooded about six city streets.

Suzanne was saved by a roomer who led her to safety as Girard battled in vain to rescue the rest of his family.

Tram Crash Injures 13 In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Thirteen persons were taken to hospital with cuts and bruises Friday after a streetcar packed with morning rush-hour passengers jumped the track and collided with another in downtown Toronto. Hundreds of cars jammed the downtown intersection near Bay and Queen Streets where the accident occurred. Police said both trolley drivers were taken to hospital.

'Friendly Drink' Leads to Freedom

BAD HARZBURG, Germany (AP)—A bottle of schnapps helped two East Germans escape to freedom yesterday.

Top Talks Urged In Bitter Speech

BELGRADE (UPI) — In his first open criticism of Russia President Nasser of the United Arab Republic told 24 uncommitted nations at a "save-the-peace" conference here yesterday that the Soviet action in deciding to resume nuclear tests was "shocking" and had heightened the danger of war.

He called for an East-West summit conference before the Berlin crisis can set the fires of a Third World War.

"The cold war steadily increases in intensity day by day," he said. "This intensity may produce an atmosphere in which armed conflict between the two blocs becomes inevitable.

"It appears to us essential that there should be a meeting of leaders at the earliest possible time."

Nasser began his speech with a bitter condemnation of the Russian nuclear announcement which he said "shocked me just as it shocked world public opinion."

He was supported by President Tito of Yugoslavia who said Berlin had brought the world to the brink of war and called for urgent action, primarily through the United Nations.

'CLIMAX REACHED'

In an oblique reference to Russia Tito said the "fear that the dangerous international situation . . . has reached its climax is clearly shown by all the preparations which are now being undertaken."

"Overt preparations for war are being made," he said. "Mobilization is taking place, the manufacture of the most up-to-date weapons is being intensified, hydrogen and atomic weapons tests are again being contemplated . . ."

'CORRECT FORUM'

Again and again he pointed to the United Nations as the correct forum to work out a solution.

He said the neutral nations and those not aligned with either bloc no longer can reconcile themselves with the status of observers at the United Nations or as a kind of reserve and voting machine in international forums.

OTHERS INVOLVED

Tito said the "purpose of this meeting is to make the great powers realize that the fate of the world cannot rest in their hands alone."

President Sukarno of Indonesia in another major speech that could sway some of the neutral nations backed the Soviet position on Berlin. He called for recognition of two Germanys but with full Western access to the "free Berlin" proposed by the Kremlin.

The meeting in the plenum room of the Yugoslav Parliament brought together colorfully garbed array of kings, emperors and presidents from Africa, Europe and Asia in a meeting the uncommitted nations hope will save the world from war.

Brazilians Hail Goulart As President

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Vice-President Joao Goulart returned to the friendly soil of south Brazil Friday night and was proclaimed president by his followers the moment his plane landed at Porto Alegre.

Opposition to him still seethed among military leaders in the north of Brazil.

But some congressional leaders at Brasilia made plans for an inaugural to install him Monday afternoon—with perhaps less than full powers.

THOUSANDS CHEER

Goulart flew from Montevideo, Uruguay, to the capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul after days of hesitation over how and when he should claim the presidency vacated last week by Janio Quadros.

While thousands cheered Goulart at Porto Alegre, congressional leaders in Brasilia announced their plans for the inaugural at 1 p.m. Monday.

There was no immediate indication that Goulart would accept curtailed powers.

MILITARY FIRM

Brazil's military chiefs stuck to their refusal to accept the leftist vice-president under any conditions.

The military chiefs had ordered the armed forces to attack and dominate the pro-Goulart third army in Rio Grande do Sul but no significant military action was reported.

DECISION APPROVED

Cunha Mello, first secretary of the senate, said in Brasilia a caucus of congressional and party leaders had approved the decision for Goulart's inaugural.

Several officials said the plans were made on the assumption that congress would approve by Monday a constitutional amendment creating a parliamentary system in Brazil. Under it Goulart would serve only as a figurehead president, with a premier making decisions.

Ancient Car Hasn't Gone 1,500 Miles!

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Any day now Alvin Garlick will be bringing his 1929 model car into the city for its first 1,500-mile checkup.

He took the car to a city garage recently for a 1,000-mile check, but decided to postpone the operation for another 500 miles because it was running so well.

To mechanics who looked incredulously at the milometer reading he explained the two-door Chevrolet had been on the blocks in a garage since 1930. His uncle, who owned it until last July, didn't like driving it.

'Callous Russians Ignore Humanity'

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night said Russia's nuclear explosion yesterday demonstrated the "completely callous" Soviet disregard for the safety of humanity.

Diefenbaker said that with the announcement of the Soviet nuclear test "everywhere in the world there is a feeling of fear tonight."

CANADIANS WARNED

In an address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association the prime minister said "the hope for general disarmament in the world has been given a limitless delay."

Diefenbaker's most significant speech in recent months contained the warning to Canadians that "if war comes in West Berlin it involves us."

'COMPLETE DISREGARD'

Earlier, in a statement issued after the news of the Soviet explosion had been released, Diefenbaker said "if reports are accurate this device which exploded in the atmosphere demonstrates beyond a doubt the completely callous Soviet disregard for the safety of humanity.

HAZARD POSED

Such an above ground explosion, he said, "poses the greatest hazard to human health and future generations through radiation.

He reiterated his warning to the Western alliance to avoid "further actions which would exacerbate an already dangerous situation."

Wheat Crop Slashed

OTTAWA (CP) —This summer's scorching Prairie drought has slashed Canada's wheat crop this year to an anticipated 252,495,000 bushels —smallest crop since the so-called "dirty thirties" hit the west.

It is also expected to spell the end of an eight-year period of heavy surplus wheat stockpiles.

The wheat crop forecast Friday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics would be 48 per cent below last year's 489,624,000 bushels and the worst since the 1937 disaster year when only 180,200,000 bushels were harvested. The 10-year average for 1951-60 is 497,400,000 bushels.

Other Prairie crops are reported to have suffered almost as heavily, with the prospective oats crop down 42 per cent, barley down 45 per cent and flaxseed down 37 per cent.

Reds to Stage Exercises

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet Union announced Friday night it will stage naval and rocket exercises off its northern coast during the two months starting Sept. 15.

Red Nuclear Blast Not a Super-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said the Soviet Union set off a medium-size, above-ground nuclear explosion Friday in Central Asia.

The announcement of the first known atomic test by a major nuclear power in nearly thtree years came as no surprise. It had been expected at any moment since Moscow's declaration two days ago that Russia would resume testing its nuclear weapons.

IN ATMOSPHERE

The statement said:

"The Soviet Union today has conducted a nuclear test in the general area of Semipalatinsk in Central Asia. The device tested had a substantial yield in the intermediate range. It was detonated in the atmosphere."

In nuclear-weapons terminology, the language "substantial yield in the intermediate range" was described as indicating a blast equivalent to the power of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT, and certainly less than 1,000,000 tons.

NOT SUPER

This is far below the mammoth 100,000,000-ton super-bomb Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Russians can and may build.

The two U.S. atomic bombs used against Japan—and the only ones yet burst in war—had a TNT equivalent of 20,000 tons. Present maximum-power U.S. weapons are reported to be in the 20,000,000 to 25,000,000-ton range.

FALLOUT FEARED

Because the new Russian device was exploded in the air, rather than underground or in outer space, it is presumed to have caused radioactive fallout.

The speed of the U.S. announcement indicated monitors picked up the explosion through earth tremors or perhaps electronic spotting devices. The process of air sampling for radioactivity takes longer.

INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

The Russian blast was set off in an area which the Soviets previously used for tests.

Semipalatinsk is an industrial and transportation centre near the Mongolian border and 500 miles northeast of Alma-Alta, where the Soviets are believed to have launched many of their missiles. It is approximately 1,700 miles east of Moscow.

Some hours before the White House announced the atmospheric test, U.S. earthquake experts dismissed the possibility that the Russians had staged an underground test Wednesday night.

Reports from Europe Thursday had said a powerful underground shock originated in central Asia.

SEES KENNEDY

The White House announcement came soon after Arthur Dean, U.S. ambassador to the Geneva test ban talks, conferred with President Kennedy and other high officials. Kennedy had summoned Dean home immediately after Wednesday's Soviet announcement.

Leaving the White House, Dean read a statement in which he said resumption of nuclear testing shows clearly that the Soviet Union intends "to rest its future policy on the terrorization of humanity."

Bill-of-Fair for 1871

A cherished relic of the early years of the Saanich Fall Fair is this old fair bill printed in 1871. The 93rd annual fair, which opens at 10 a.m. today, is a lot bigger than it was in those days and officials think entries "will exceed anything we've had in the past."—(Colonist photo.)

'Skipper' Bennett To Extend Fleet

Premier Bennett has ordered an immediate survey of transportation needs of the Gulf Islands to determine what type of new ship should be built for the ferry service the provincial government took over yesterday.

Announcement that a new ferry would be constructed was made by the premier during a brief ceremony in which he handed over a cheque for the full purchase price of $249,823.75 to Gavin Mouat, principal owner of Gulf Islands Ferry (1951) Co., Ltd. (See picture on Page 5.)

NEW TITLE

More than 100 residents of the Islands and guests of the government were on hand at Swartz Bay to hear Premier Bennett described as "the commodore of the Hawaiian Islands of Canada."

"Before very long we will have to build at least one new ship," said the premier.

SURVEY ORDERED

He later told newsmen that Ronald B. Worley, assistant manager of the B.C. Toll Authority ferry system, had been ordered to make a survey of all the requirements of the Islands in regard to transportation.

"The government expects a recommendation as to what type of new ship is required," he said. "As soon as we have this recommendation we shall proceed with its construction."

Take-over of the ferry system includes all ships—the Motor Princess, George S. Pearson, Cy Peck, and Delta Princess—and assets such as cash and investments made by the company.

Premier Bennett claimed it was the first time in history that the head of a government had made full payment at the actual acceptance ceremony.

Actor Massey Recovering

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said yesterday actor Raymond Massey, 65, was "coming along very nicely" following a hernia operation.

Letters to the Editor

Free Pass?

In his column "All Aboard" Mr. Mortimore writes there is no reason why a transit system should be required to make a profit, as we do not require that our roads and bridges do so.

The curent issue of the Henry George News quotes from a speech made by Henry George—who once lived in Victoria—this statement made when he was running for mayor of New York City, "We believe that the railroads of the city ought to be taken properly and legally by the people and run for the benefit of the people of New York. Any individual putting up a large building puts in an elevator, but he does not put in that elevator a man to collect fares. He gains the advantage in the increased value of his building. So we should take the railroads and run them free of charge. Let everyone ride who would and we could pay for it out of the increased value of the people's property in consequence. We should treat our railroads like our highways . . . free to the public."

Now that our transit system is owned by the B.C. government, I would suggest that the home-owners grant of $50 per annum be abolished and a street bus pass be given to all residents of Greater Victoria. When the B.C. Electric Co. was given its franchise one of the conditions was that weekly passes would be sold for one dollar. The least the government can do is to restore this privilege to the people.

Calm Down

In Thursday's Colonist it says nations are shocked and stunned with the announcement that the Soviet Union will resume testing of powerful nuclear weapons. In my opinion we the people are not shocked. Instead we are in a state of apathy, due in most part to the press. Day after day, month after month we have scare headlines in our newspapers. The world right now is in such a dangerous era that it would be well for the press to calm down. I honestly believe, Mr. Editor, that our newspapers could go a long way in relieving world tension.

A newspaper is not a business. It does not belong to the man who bought it. It belongs really to the public. The press is a powerful weapon and can influence millions. A newspaper publisher may seek to influence the public mind on questions of law, debating the rights and wrongs of legal questions arising in a community. His opinion may influence millions. A lawyer must put in years of study and have a licence to sway even a courtroom. A newspaper can influence more persons on health matters than any doctor or group of doctors. His audience is greater, his staff's knowledge of language as an instrument of communication of ideas gives him far greater power and ability to disseminate ideas.

Why not use this mighty instrument, the press, to calm and soothe, instead of stirring a boiling pot? If California the press has done everything except declare war. The news on the radio has sound effects. The result is a people whose nerves must be at the breaking point.

Give us the facts, Mr. Editor, and let us form our own opinions.

MILDRED L. VINING.

2220 Cook Street.

Rights Lost

In a recent editorial the Colonist commiserates with the farmers in China, who are suffering under the Communist controls in that country.

It is to me a source of never-ending wonder why the supposedly inquiring minds of B.C. newspaper editors wander so far afield, when the farmers in our own province are so obviously languishing under baneful conditions almost exactly similar to those in China.

We are everlastingly being exhorted to guard jealously our liberties, yet during the recent session of the legislature an amendment to the Milk Act was passed, virtually unnoticed in the uproar of the more spectacular B.C. Electric seizure, which specifically deprives a certain class of people in agriculture the right to engage in private enterprise, and which specifically penalizes—upon a retroactive basis—others so engaged.

An even worse situation exists among the vegetable growers, over one half of whom have been driven out of production during the last few years by the fantastic costs and charges imposed upon them by the . . . board controlling them—amounting to as much as $250 per acre per year.

Recently an attempt was made also to enslave similarly the egg producers on the coast; but they, realizing the creeping paralysis that would overwhelm them under a compulsory marketing board, wisely and resoundingly defeated the attempt to deprive them of every vestige of individual freedom and initiative.

With the shelves of the grocery stores constantly loaded with American produce, and B.C. farmers gradually disappearing from the scene, is it not time for the press to take a look at what goes on at home, before gazing over the vast stretches of the Pacific Ocean for inspiration?

Swimming Beginners Pass Chemainus Test

CHEMAINUS—There was a certain amount of excitement Monday afternoon at the Kinsmen Park Beach when approximately 40 small boys and girls, all beginners at swimming, were tested by Mrs. Sheila Latta, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. Latta and an elementary school teacher at North Vancouver.

Mrs. Latta and Dale, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Churches, instructed the youngsters in classes held three times a week.

THREE GROUPS

As progress was made beginners were divided into three groups—minnows, trout and salmon.

Of the 20 tiniest ones, minnows who averaged 4 to 6 years, only two failed to pass the test. The rest were able to swim 10 feet out and back, dog paddle, do the "dead man's" float, know what to do if they fall into deep water and generally overcome the fear of water.

Of the whole group about 90 per cent passed and were awarded cards promoting them to higher groups.

Twelve of the older ones who could read and write took the Red Cross "water safety beginner" Test which eight passed. They were awarded a Red Cross badge and card.

The eight are Patty Schenker, Vivian Porter, Jo Denton, Dale Irving, John Booth, Brian Miller, Jimmy Cairns and Martin Put.

There were 60 registrations for the classes for beginners.

Outdoor Clubs Elect Officers

NANAIMO (CP)—Onni Parta of Ladysmith Wednesday succeded Tom Jones of Campbell River as president of the Affiliated Fish and Game Clubs of Vancouver Island. Other officers are Neil Cave, Victoria, first vice-president; Louis Langlois, Duncan, second vice-president, and Sam Hindmarsh, Ladysmith, secretary.

Big Wheels

Americans Promise New Ski-Run Check

COURTENAY — Courtenay Recreation Association has been advised an American timber company will have a further look at a request to improve Forbidden Plateau ski runs.

Ald. F. S. Williams, association president, said a letter from Northern Development Ltd. of Everett, Wash., indicated company personnel will look over the Mount Becher property and come up with a proposal for its future use.

Last April, Scott Paper Co., the parent firm of Northern Development, turned down a request to expand ski runs on logged-off land and withdrew previous privileges granted the club to clear away brush.

Talk of a shoppers' boycott of the company's products in local supermarket then alarmed a Canadian affiliate of the Scott Paper complex in New Wesminster. Officials of the Canadian company said they were innocent of any restrictions on the Forbidden Plateau land, but would seek to have the matter reopened in Everett.

Ald. Williams said the recent letter renewed hope that ski runs which serve skiers from all parts of Vancouver Island could be maintained and improved.

"Nevertheless, we can't afford to take any more chances on the important problem of public access to natural recreation areas and still plan to submit a brief to the provincial cabinet when it meets next month in Campbell River," he said.

Students carrying out beautification projects have planted more than 35,000 trees on school grounds in Mexico City.

Wreck Hurts Couple

ALBERNI — A Nanaimo couple was taken to hospital here after their light 1958 car was demolished in an accident on Alberni Highway on the east side of the mountain.

According to RCMP, the car, driven by Larry Cowan with his wife as passenger, went out of control, skidded on the gravel shoulder of a curve near the foot of the mountain and struck a guardrail and a utility pole.

Mr. Cowan was released after treatment for facial cuts at West Coast General Hospital. Mrs. Cowan was detained in hospital.

Stolen Car Found

ALBERNI—A car stolen in Nanaimo was recovered here undamaged Thursday night. Two juveniles were apprehended and returned to Brannan Lake School.

$81,000 Speeds Hospital

Health Minister Eric Martin yesterday announced that a progress payment of $81,474 has been made to Nanaimo Regional Hospital.

The 160-bed hospital, under construction for the past 11 months and expected to be completed during the summer of next year, will cost more than $3,400,000, of which the provincial government will pay one-half.

Workmen Burned

Fire Kicked Overboard

PORT ALBERNI — Valere Coupal of New Westminster is in West Coast General Hospital being treated for burns to his legs following a waterfront accident here Friday.

An employee of Fraser River Piledrivers Ltd., he was reported to have been injured when a bucket of gasoline caught fire as he was washing parts of a front-end loader.

The repair job to the machine, which had been raised from the floor of Alberni Inlet after falling overboard some days ago, was being carried out on a barge anchored offshore.

Coupal kicked the blazing pail of gasoline over the side of the barge and the flames spread over the surface of the water. The fire burned itself out without services of Port Alberni volunteer fire department, called to the scene, being required.

Coupal's burns are reported to be quite serious but his condition is good.

Fire Fight Rejected Alberni Man Fined

ALBERNI — An Alberni man pleaded guilty in court Thursday to contravention of the Forestry Act in refusing to fight a fire.

Henry Coss was fined $25 with $5 court costs.

Similar fines were imposed on James Spencer, charged with failing to extinguish a lighted cigaret, and Alf Tilley, charged with failing to take steps to extinguish a fire. Both charges were laid under the Forestry Act.

Foulkes First Speaker

COURTENAY—Canada's defence problems in the nuclear age as seen by one of the country's senior generals will open the new season for the Comox District Canadian Club.

Recently retired chief of staff, Gen. Charles Foulkes, will address the club Sept. 18.

His visit here will be part of his first speaking tour since he retired from the army last May. He now lives in Victoria.

Thomas Menzies, Canadian Club president, said the highly topical subject of Canada's current defence problems heralds a promising season of important speakers and subjects. A marked increase in club membership is expected to result, he said.

For the visit of General Foulkes, all members will be permitted to bring a guest.

One Vote Not Enough?

Opposition Grows To Parking Bylaw

Alderman Supports Downtown Protest

The city's $1,115,000 downtown parking bylaw—barely approved by voters Thursday—lost most of its glitter yesterday with increasing opposition from downtown property owners and one of the city's own aldermen.

"If I were the mayor I'd throw the bylaw in the waste-paper basket," said Ald. Rev. J. L. W. McLean.

Victoria lawyer E. H. M. Foot, one of a group considering challenging the validity of the bylaw in court, said another five downtown property owners approached him yesterday and offered to help back an appeal.

Mayor Percy Scurrah spent some time closeted with City Manager C. C. Wyatt and City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady, discussing strategy.

A special meeting of city council will likely be held Thursday to decide the next move.

TWO CHOICES

Council has two choices. It can give final reading to the bylaw and move ahead, risking a court case by disgruntled property owners, or it can refer the bylaw to the B.C. legislature for ratification.

Ratification would remove most of the threat of court action but the bylaw would be delayed six months until the legislature meets.

KNOW SCORE

The bylaw needed 80 votes in Thursday's election to be approved. It gained 81.

"The men who are in business down there (downtown Victoria) should know the score, and if they feel this is not the kind of business that will be helpful to them I feel sure council will not want to go against them," said Ald. McLean.

ANY REASON

"What I think now is, I wonder if there is any reason why city council should go ahead with a proposition like this. It is certainly for the men down there in business to determine if they like it or not.

"I don't think the answer is conclusive for the city to go ahead."

SLIM MARGIN

Ald. McLean said he felt council should require a greater margin of support for the scheme than the single vote gained Thursday.

"If it were 90 per cent I would think that was a suitable percentage. The question is, where do we go from here?

ASSENT THEM

". . . But supposing this is not proceeded with, what are the business firms going to do. It was city council's desire to assist them in any way practicable," he said.

"I would be happy if someone who voted against this would come up with an alternate proposal. It is easy enough to knock down a thing like this."

TWO GARAGES

Under the terms of the bylaw, council plans to borrow $1,115,000, buy two downtown lots and build two off-street parking garages—one to hold 400 cars and the other to hold 200.

Owners of downtown property would be held responsible for any losses.

FIVE OFFERS

Mr. Foot said five property owners had offered financial help for any challenge against the bylaw in court.

"I was rather surprised. People I don't know at all phoned me up."

Two Colwood fishermen drifted for six hours after they were refused permission to land their disabled boat at the William Head minimum security prison.

Terry White, 3178 Glen Lake, and Robert Fisher, said they were refused permission to land by a prison guard.

LOST PROPELLER

The pair said their boat lost its propeller while they were fishing off William Head Tuesday.

After paddling for an hour, they managed to bring the boat to the shore at the prison.

There, they said, a guard told them they would be arrested if they landed.

STILL SAID NO

"We explained our problem to him and he could see we had no propeller, but he still told us to leave," said Mr. White.

He said the guard suggested they paddle around the point to shelter.

They eventually managed to bring their boat to shore at Esquimalt, after paddling more than eight miles through the choppy water.

NEVER REFUSE

J. J. Sheridan, acting assistant warden at the prison, said his men would never refuse help in a case like this.

"There must have been some other circumstances," he said.

Car Hits Boy On Walk

A five-year-old boy is in fairly good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital after being struck down on the sidewalk by a car which went out of control following a collision yesterday afternoon.

Gordon Gillis, 1056 Foul Bay, was treated for cuts to the side of the head and face.

Police said a truck driven on Foul Bay by James C. Smith, 1641 Edgeware, and a car driven on Oak Bay Avenue by Doris Winnifred Davis, 1210 Beach, collided.

The Davis car mounted the curb at the northwest corner and struck the Gillis boy as he walked along the sidewalk.

One Store Window Smashed

Gales Knock Limbs Into Limbo

Weather-dried tree branches bore the brunt of brisk winds which swept through Greater Victoria overnight Thursday and fanned up to moderate gale strength again yesterday.

While both electric and telephone linemen were kept on the job from 2 a.m. Friday to repair wind caused breaks, most of the damage reported was confined to trees.

Branches were reported down in many parts of the city—on Rockland between Moss and Government House, in the 500 block of Selkirk, at Pandora and Cook, at Claremont and Del Monte in Saanich and in open fields in Esquimalt.

One store window—at the Sussex Dress Shop, 1011 Douglas—was broken early Friday by the wind, and a strip of sheet metal blown loose on the front of the York Theatre on Government.

After diminishing in the later part of the morning, the winds, from the west-southwest, freshened to moderate gale force of 36 miles an hour, with gusts to 57 miles an hour, at 2.45 p.m.

By 5.15 p.m. they had eased to 33 with gusts to 44 and were expected to drop to 15 during the night.

Joe Flubb Goes Hunting for Disaster Today

Joe Flubb joined other Vancouver Island grouse hunters this morning and because of his adroitness with firearms is expected to join his ancestors later today. Here he demonstrates that his way of removing shotgun from a car is better than removing it butt-first and broken open, because when triggers snag on packsack he gets a chance to find out if Old Faithful is loaded.

Flubb likes to carry several different sizes of shotgun shells in his pocket and discounts the hazard of firing a 12-gauge into a 20-gauge shell lodged halfway down the barrel. Last time he only suffered the loss of his left ear.

What smart guy is going to put his nice shiny fowling piece down in the dirty old grass when he goes through a fence? Flubb didn't get to be office manager by being dumb, he points out. He's got a point too, because he is a lot smarter than the last office manager, who made the mistake of advancing through a fence with Flubb following behind.

When his nerves get a bit edgy, Joe just reaches into that big packsack and comes up with a flagon of tonic. He may get a bit careless with Old Betsy, but he never worries about it because he can't remember it afterwards.

Toward day's end Joe gets a bit fuzzy about directions, but this highway map is a great comfort to him back in the wilderness. He won't get far, anyway, after he blows that foot off.—(Colonist photos by Ted Harris; Joe Flubb portrayed by Bob Pethick.)

Chest Orders Survey

More Than 50 Agencies In United Appeal Here?

Greater Victoria's Community Chest directors voted unanimously yesterday to ask an independent group to conduct a survey aimed at streamlining the Chest into a full-fledged United Appeal.

Directors will ask their newly-formed advisory board to take on the job of seeing if all health, welfare and community service agencies in Greater Victoria can be united under one banner.

STEP ASIDE

Directors also agreed that, if a sufficient number of currently independent agencies indicate willingness to take part, the Chest would be willing to step aside in favor of a new United Appeal Fund.

A favorable response could mean as many as 50 or more health, welfare and community service agencies would be united in a single fund-raising campaign each year.

NEW AGENCY

At present the Community Chest has 22 member agencies.

The directors also voted to accept the Boys' Club of Victoria as a member agency.

Announcement of the acceptance was heralded as "a first practical step in the reduction of the multiplicity of appeals."

EXTRA $10,000

Directors tacked an additional $10,000 onto this year's goal of $310,000 to provide funds for the new agency.

One of the main advantages from a United Fund, they said, is a reduction in fund-raising costs for individual drives. It would slice the campaign cost factor to as low as five to 10 cents to the dollar.

ON THE JOB

And citizens, by participation in on-the-job employee funds, have indicated their desire for a single campaign.

A year ago, a Community Chest survey of 4,000 citizens showed 80 per cent in favor of a single yearly campaign.

Directors of the Chest explained that if the survey proves successful, the Community Chest would be dissolved, but its organization and assets would be placed at the disposal of the new organization.

The new United Appeal would not be an addition to something that already exists, an official explained. It would be a "fresh start," with an all-inclusive objective.

The directors will ask the advisory board to approach the large number of separate organizations and ask for their co-operation in developing a United Fund.

Justin Harbord, elected president of the Chest for the balance of the year, said:

FED UP NOW

"I am sure the whole community is in favor of this concept. And I am sure that it is completely fed up with the present multiplicity of drives."

Mr Harbord replaces Eric Mallet, who resigned to take up a new appointment for B.C. Telephone Co. in Vancouver.

Lawyer George Gregory and Dr. Peter Banks have been appointed first and second vice-presidents, replacing W. C. Mearns and A. E. Walters.

MORE TIME

Mr. Mearns resigned to devote more time to his new appointment as director and vice-president in charge of development for the government-owned B.C. Electric.

Mr. Walters resigned after being elected president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Dockyard Airport On Show

The navy will throw its Dockyard gates open to the public next Saturday during annual open house of the RCN's Pacific Command on Navy Day.

This year, for the first time, the public is also welcome to inspect the navy's utility air squadron, VU-33, based at Patricia Bay Airport.

Nobody Wants Bumpy Buses

Gonzales Avenue residents are happy now that buses have been rerouted around their street, but the change has stirred up a host of complaints by householders along the new route.

A petition signed by 16 residents living on the new route will be considered by city council's transit committee when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Along with it will be considered the complaints of residents along the old route.

New bus routes which went into effect Monday took buses along Despard, along a one-block section of Gonzales, to Richardson.

Residents on Gonzales complained that buses were vibrating their houses and the route was changed temporarily to Despard, Richmond and Richardson.

A petition asking that the buses be moved again, either back to Gonzales or to a former route along Richmond and Quamichan, was taken door to door by Peter Fowles, 1740 Richardson, and Capt. E. J. Folwell, 651 Richmond.

"It isn't fair for them (Gonzales residents) to get rid of their problem and dump it in our laps," Mr. Fowles said last night.

'Get Tough' Policy Halts Illegal Work

Victoria's zoning board of appeal has issued a stop-work order against a city contractor making alterations to a house without permission.

The move points up a "get tough" policy adopted by the board this week to halt illegal construction work in Victoria.

A number of buildings erected before adoption of the present zoning and building bylaws do not meet bylaw requirements.

When an owner of one of these buildings wants to make alterations or additions, he must apply to the board for permission.

If the board rules in favor, a building permit is then issued, city planner Roderick Clack said last night.

"But an increasing number of applicants consider their submission to the board as being sufficiently automatic to allow them to proceed before a ruling is made.

"The board wishes it to be made clear that any construction in advance of the case being considered will result in the case being rejected."

$500,000 Project

Bylaw May Squelch Big Apartment Plan

A $500,000, eight-storey apartment building on Douglas Street, overlooking Beacon Hill Park, is planned by a Victoria construction firm, Patterson Construction Ltd.

But the plans may run afoul of a city zoning bylaw which could limit the building to six floors.

Victoria architects Wade, Stockdill and Armour have applied to city hall for the rezoning of a site on Douglas at Niagara to allow multiple dwelling construction. Present zoning is limited commercial.

The zoning bylaw allows a building of six floors or 75 feet in height.

Design of the building shows eight floors and a two-apartment penthouse with a total height of 72 feet, three inches.

A total of 49 one and two-bedroom suites is planned with a total of 61,740 square feet of space. Off-street parking is included in the plan, with space for 40 cars.

The regular meeting of city council Sept. 14 will consider the application and a report from the advisory planning commission.

Gold Garters Come First —Then Go for the Moon

Peter Bruton's NOTEBOOK

WAY TO THE STARS: A U.S. senator said recently he would rather shoot for an even higher standard of living for his people than strive to be the first to reach the moon.

Lawyer Don Anderson passes on a list of some goods advertised in the States which convinces him the standard of living there is already out of this world.

Among the products available:

A "Venus fly trap," being a plant guaranteed to catch and eat live insects as well as raw beef (three bulbs for $1); a giant, 30-foot balloon alleged to be great fun at the beach (price, $2 or five for $10); 14-karat gold garters said to be elegantly practical and appropriate for women whose skin is sensitive (set of four, $55).

Beautiful Lorelei, the life-size, lifelike six-foot mermaid, said to be a real sensation at beach parties and luaus—"'tis suggested to the men that for a million laughs, take her along as a travelling companion in your convertible," (price, $11.98); two sets of cuff links and tie bars, one with initials "TGIF" standing for "Thank Goodness It's Friday," and the other "MGIM" for "My Goodness It's Monday" (price, $8.95); a diamond toothpick for the man who has everything else (price, a mere $15).

A "hangover" hat, said to be the greatest invention since martinis, being a vinyl hat with sealed-in, perma-temp fluid which one can keep in the refrigerator and pop it on the morning after (price, rainbow colors only, $4.95); a cocktail watch for those who never drink before five. All the numerals on the face are five (price, $17.95).

"All these extravagantly impractical gifts remind me of the Texan who bought his dog a son," said Don.

JUMBLED JOTTINGS: As the odd-looking little ferries Motor Princess and Delta Princess moved toward their Swartz Bay jetty to be taken over by the provincial government yesterday, an observer was heard to mutter: "Gee, they look like the Chinese navy!" . . . and ferry company head Gavin Mouat, in greeting Premier Bennett on the deck of the Motor Princess, said: "Welcome aboard our ship—or your ship, I should say!" . . . Last June we mentioned the wonderful bargain going for $1 in the form of membership in the Maritime Museum of B.C. in Esquimalt. This resulted in six new members joining up. Are there another six people who can afford $1?

'SHOCKED' NASSER CONDEMNS RUSSIA

Neutrals Open World Parley

BELGRADE (UPI) — In his first open criticism of Russia President Nasser of the United Arab Republic told 24 uncommitted nations at a "save-the-peace" conference here yesterday that the Soviet action in deciding to resume nuclear tests was "shocking" and had heightened the danger of war.

He called for an East-West summit conference before the Berlin crisis can set the fires of a Third World War.

"The cold war steadily increases in intensity day by day," he said. "This intensity may produce an atmosphere in which armed conflict between the two blocs becomes inevitable.

"It appears to us essential that there should be a meeting of leaders at the earliest possible time."

Nasser began his speech with a bitter condemnation of the Russian nuclear announcement which he said "shocked me just as it shocked world public opinion."

He was supported by President Tito of Yugoslavia who said Berlin had brought the world to the brink of war and called for urgent action, primarily through the United Nations.

'CLIMAX REACHED'

In an oblique reference to Russia Tito said the "fear that the dangerous international situation . . . has reached its climax is clearly shown by all the preparations which are now being undertaken."

"Overt preparations for war are being made," he said. "Mobilization is taking place, the manufacture of the most up-to-date weapons is being intensified, hydrogen and atomic weapons tests are again being contemplated . . ."

'CORRECT FORUM'

Again and again he pointed to the United Nations as the correct forum to work out a solution.

He said the neutral nations and those not aligned with either bloc no longer can reconcile themselves with the status of observers at the United Nations or as a kind of reserve and voting machine in international forums.

OTHERS INVOLVED

Tito said the "purpose of this meeting is to make the great powers realize that the fate of the world cannot rest in their hands alone."

President Sukarno of Indonesia in another major speech that could sway some of the neutral nations backed the Soviet position on Berlin. He called for recognition of two Germanys but with full Western access to the "free Berlin" proposed by the Kremlin.

The meeting in the plenum room of the Yugoslav Parliament brought together a colorfully garbed array of kings, emperors and presidents from Africa, Europe and Asia in a meeting the uncommitted nations hope will save the world from war.

Friendly Drink —Then Freedom

BAD HARZBURG, Germany (AP)—A bottle of schnapps helped two East Germans escape to freedom yesterday.

West German police said a 22-year-old bricklayer and his 19-year-old companion approached Communist border guards with a bottle on the pretext of celebrating Communist moves against the West. Once the guards passed out, the two youths slipped over the border into West Germany.

Brazilians Hail Goulart As President

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Vice-President Joao Goulart returned to the friendly soil of south Brazil Friday night and was proclaimed president by his followers the moment his plane landed at Porto Alegre.

Opposition to him still seethed among military leaders in the north of Brazil.

But some congressional leaders at Brasilia made plans for an inaugural to install him Monday afternoon—with perhaps less than full powers.

The Chamber of Deputies early today approved a constitutional amendment severely limiting the powers of the president and putting control of the government into the hands of a prime minister. The vote was 234-59.

THOUSANDS CHEER

Goulart flew from Montevideo, Uruguay, to the capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul after days of hesitation over how and when he should claim the presidency vacated last week by Janio Quadros.

While thousands cheered Goulart at Porto Alegre, congressional leaders in Brasilia announced their plans for the inaugural at 1 p.m. Monday.

There was no immediate indication that Goulart would accept curtailed powers.

MILITARY FIRM

Brazil's military chiefs stuck to their refusal to accept the leftist vice-president under any conditions.

The military chiefs had ordered the armed forces to attack and dominate the pro-Goulart third army in Rio Grande do Sul but no significant military action was reported.

Cunha Mello, first secretary of the senate, said in Brasilia a caucus of congressional and party leaders had approved the decision for Goulart's inaugural.

As Goulart's plane touched down at Porto Alegre, a radio station there declared "from this instant Dr. Goulart is president to the order of the supreme commander of the nation in his fulfillment of the constitution."

Ancient Car Hasn't Gone 1,500 Miles!

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Any day now Alvin Garlick will be bringing his 1929 model car into the city for its first 1,500-mile checkup.

He took the car to a city garage recently for a 1,000-mile check, but decided to postpone the operation for another 500 miles because it was running so well.

To mechanics who looked incredulously at the milometer reading he explained the two-door Chevrolet had been on the blocks in a garage since 1930. His uncle, who owned it until last July, didn't like driving it.

'Callous Russians Ignore Humanity'

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker last night said Russia's nuclear explosion yesterday demonstrated the "completely callous" Soviet disregard for the safety of humanity.

Diefenbaker said that with the announcement of the Soviet nuclear test "everywhere in the world there is a feeling of fear tonight."

CANADIANS WARNED

In an address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association the prime minister said "the hope for general disarmament in the world has been given a limitless delay."

Diefenbaker's most significant speech in recent months contained the warning to Canadians that "if war comes in West Berlin it involves us."

'COMPLETE DISREGARD'

Earlier, in a statement issued after the news of the Soviet explosion had been released, Diefenbaker said "if reports are accurate this device which exploded in the atmosphere demonstrates beyond a doubt the completely callous Soviet disregard for the safety of humanity."

HAZARD POSED

Such an above ground explosion, he said, "poses the greatest hazard to human health and future generations through radiation."

He reiterated his warning to the Western alliance to avoid "further actions which would exacerbate an already dangerous situation."

Wheat Crop Slashed

OTTAWA (CP) —This summer's scorching Prairie drought has slashed Canada's wheat crop this year to an anticipated 252,495,000 bushels —smallest crop since the so-called "dirty thirties" hit the west.

It is also expected to spell the end of an eight-year period of heavy surplus wheat stockpiles.

The wheat crop forecast Friday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics would be 48 per cent below last year's 489,624,000 bushels and the worst since the 1937 disaster year when only 180,200,000 bushels were harvested. The 10-year average for 1951-60 is 497,400,000 bushels.

Other Prairie crops are reported to have suffered almost as heavily, with the prospective oats crop down 42 per cent, barley down 45 per cent and flaxseed down 37 per cent.

Reds to Stage Exercises

LONDON (Reuters) — The Soviet Union announced Friday night it will stage naval and rocket exercises off its northern coast during the two months starting Sept. 15.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the manoeuvres will be held "in accordance with the plan of military preparations."

Red Nuclear Blast Not a Super-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said the Soviet Union set off a medium-size, above-ground nuclear explosion Friday in Central Asia.

The announcement of the first known atomic test by a major nuclear power in nearly three years came as no surprise. It had been expected at any moment since Moscow's declaration two days ago that Russia would resume testing its nuclear weapons.

IN ATMOSPHERE

The statement said:

"The Soviet Union today has conducted a nuclear test in the general area of Semipalatinsk in Central Asia. The device tested had a substantial yield in the intermediate range. It was detonated in the atmosphere."

In nuclear-weapons terminology, the language "substantial yield in the intermediate range" was described as indicating a blast equivalent to the power of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT, and certainly less than 1,000,000 tons.

NOT SUPER

This is far below the mammoth 100,000,000-ton superbomb Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Russians can and may build.

The two U.S. atomic bombs used against Japan—and the only ones yet burst in war—had a TNT equivalent of 20,000 tons. Present maximum-power U.S. weapons are reported to be in the 20,000,000 to 25,000,000-ton range.

FALLOUT FEARED

Because the new Russian device was exploded in the air, rather than underground or in outer space, it is presumed to have caused radioactive fallout.

The speed of the U.S. announcement indicated monitors picked up the explosion through earth tremors or perhaps electronic spotting devices. The process of air sampling for radioactivity takes longer.

INDUSTRIAL CENTRE

The Russian blast was set off in an area which the Soviets previously used for tests.

Semipalatinsk is an industrial and transportation centre near the Mongolian border and 560 miles northeast of Alma-Alta, where the Soviets are believed to have launched many of their missiles. It is approximately 1,700 miles east of Moscow.

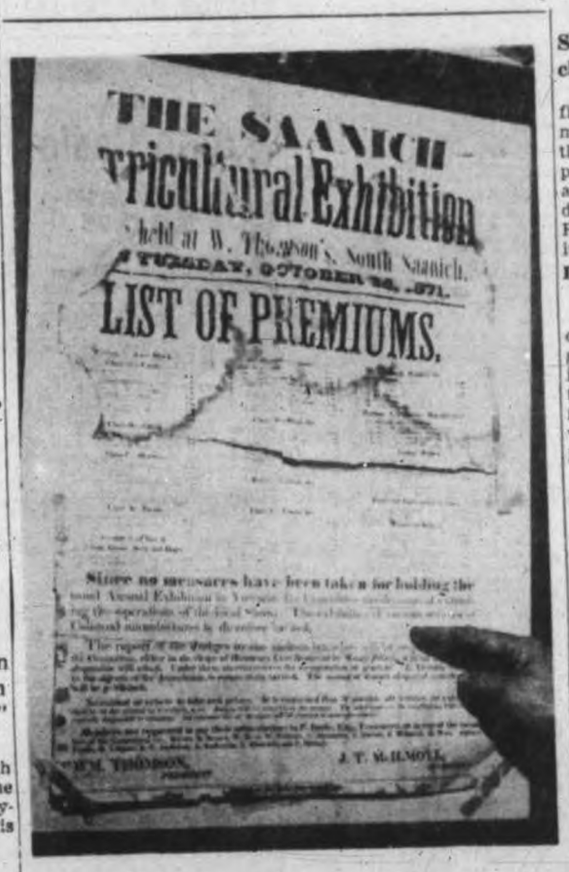

Some hours before the White House announced the atmospheric test, U.S. earthquake experts dismissed the possibility that the Russians had staged an underground test Wednesday night.

Reports from Europe Thursday had said a powerful underground shock originated in central Asia.

SEES KENNEDY

The White House announcement came soon after Arthur Dean, U.S. ambassador to the Geneva test ban talks, conferred with President Kennedy and other high officials. Kennedy had summoned Dean home immediately after Wednesday's Soviet announcement.

Leaving the White House, Dean read a statement in which he said resumption of nuclear testing shows clearly that the Soviet Union intends "to rest its future policy on the terrorization of humanity."

Bill-of-Fair for 1871

A cherished relic of the early years of the Saanich Fall Fair is this old fair bill printed in 1871. The 93rd annual fair, which opens at 10 a.m. today, is a lot bigger than it was in those days and officials think entries "will exceed anything we've had in the past."—(Colonist photo.)

'Skipper' Bennett To Extend Fleet

Premier Bennett has ordered an immediate survey of transportation needs of the Gulf Islands to determine what type of new ship should be built for the ferry service the provincial government took over yesterday.

Announcement that a new ferry would be constructed was made by the premier during a brief ceremony in which he handed over a cheque for the full purchase price of $249,823.75 to Gavin Mouat, principal owner of Gulf Islands Ferry (1951) Co., Ltd. (See picture on Page 5.)

NEW TITLE

More than 100 residents of the Islands and guests of the government were on hand at Swartz Bay to hear Premier Bennett described as "the commodore of the Hawaiian Islands of Canada."

"Before very long we will have to build at least one new ship," said the premier.

SURVEY ORDERED

He later told newsmen that Ronald B. Worley, assistant manager of the B.C. Toll Authority ferry system, had been ordered to make a survey of all the requirements of the Islands in regard to transportation.

"The government expects a recommendation as to what type of new ship is required," he said. "As soon as we have this recommendation we shall proceed with its construction."

Takeover of the ferry system includes all ships—the Motor Princess, George S. Pearson, Cy Peck, and Delta Princess—and assets such as cash and investments made by the company.

Premier Bennett claimed it was the first time in history that the head of a government had made full payment at the actual acceptance ceremony.

Actor Massey Recovering

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Doctors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said yesterday actor Raymond Massey, 65, was "coming along very nicely" following a hernia operation.
